BATTLE-FIELD NEAR GETTYSBURGH, Thursday 4:30 P. M., Via BALTIMORE, Friday A. M.

The day has been quiet up to the present moment. The enemy are now massing a heavy force on our left, and have just began the attack with artillery. The probability is that a severe battle will be fought before dark.

The rebel sharpshooters have been annoying our batteries and men all day from the steeples of the churches in Gettysburgh.

We hold the Emmettsburgh and Baltimore roads. L. L. CROUNSE.

BATTLE-FIELD NEAR GETTYSBURGH, Friday morning July 3,—three A. M. via BALTIMORE, one P. M.

At the close of my last dispatch at 4½ P. M. yesterday, the enemy had just opened a heavy attack by artillery on our left and centre. The tactics of the enemy were soon apparent—a massing of their main strength on our left flank, which covered the Frederick road, with the determination to crush it. So intent were the enemy on this purpose, that every other part of the lines was left alone.

The fighting was of the most desperate description on both sides. Our gallant men fought as they never fought before. We had against this great onslaught of the enemy three corps—the Second, Third and Fifth. The Third and Fifth joined hands, and fought heroically. The Second ably supported them, and at the same time held its own position. One division of the First was also engaged.

The fighting was so furious that neither party took many prisoners. We captured about 600 in one or two charges.

The losses, considering the duration of the conflict, are more than usually heavy on both sides. Many of our most gallant officers have fallen. Gen. SICKLES' right leg was shot off below the knee. Amputation has been performed, and he is doing well.

Late in the evening, Gen. MEADE called a council of his corps commanders, and it was resolved to continue the fight so long as there was any one left to fight. L. L. CROUNSE.

BALTIMORE, Friday, July 3, Via WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

Our correspondent has just arrived from the battle-field at Gettysburgh, having left there at 3 o'clock this morning. The reports of the occurrences in that vicinity, as thus far rendered in the Philadelphia and Baltimore papers, are almost totally incorrect. A brief and candid statement of the situation up to this morning is this:

In Wednesday's fight we were repulsed, simply because we were overpowered and outflanked. We fell back to the rear of Gettysburgh, and held that position. The action was not general, and was not intended to be by Gen. MEADE. It was brought on by Gen. REYNOLDS, under the impression that his force exceeded that of the enemy.

There was no fighting yesterday until 4½ o'clock, P. M. A bloody engagement was then fought, lasting until dark, resulting in a substantial success to our forces, the enemy being repulsed with great loss. The particulars I have already sent you by a special courier.

Neither Gens. WADSWORTH, VAN STEINWARR nor DOUBLEDAY are wounded.

The total number of prisoners taken up to this morning was about fifteen hundred—eight hundred and fifty on Wednesday, and six hundred on Thursday. This is reliable.

The enemy made the attack yesterday. It was terrific, and they threw their whole force into it, but they were finally repulsed with great slaughter.

At daylight this morning the battle was renewed, the cannonading being rapid and heavy. It was the determination of our Generals to fight to the bitter end. L. L. CROUNSE.

OFFICIAL DISPATCHES FROM GEN. MEADE.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

An official dispatch was received this afternoon from Maj.-Gen. MEADE, dated Headquarters Army of the Potomac, July 2, 11 o'clock P. M., which says:

"The enemy attacked me about 4 P. M. this day, and, after one of the severest contests of the war, was repulsed at all points. We have suffered considerably in killed and wounded. Among the former are Brig.-Gens. PAUL and ZOOK, and among the wounded Gens. SICKLES, BARLOW, GRAHAM and WARREN, slightly. We have taken a large number of prisoners."

SECOND DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

A later dispatch has been received from Maj.-Gen. MEADE, dated 8 o'clock this morning, which says:

"The action commenced again at early daylight upon various parts of the line. The enemy thus far have made no impression upon my position. All accounts agree in placing their whole army here. Prisoners report that LONGSTREET'S and A. P. HILL'S forces were much injured yesterday, and had many general officers killed. Gen. BARKSDALE, of Mississippi, is dead. His body is within our lines. We have thus far about 1,600 prisoners, and a small number yet to be started."

THE BATTLE OF WEDNESDAY.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

BATTLE-FIELD NEAR GETTYSBURGH, Thursday, 12 M., July 2. via Frederick, July 3.

The engagement yesterday was quite severe, though confined to our advance, the First and Eleventh corps; the action being mainly fought by the First corps, under Gen. REYNOLDS, who was killed by a sharpshooter early in the fight. We first attacked the enemy's advance just beyond Gettysburgh, and repulsed it, when the whole corps became engaged, and subsequently the Eleventh corps, which came up to support by the Emmetsburgh road. The opposing forces were the rebel corps of HILL and EWELL. Our men gallantly sustained the fight, holding their own until 4 o'clock, when they retired to a strong position just to the eastward and southward of Gettysburgh. This was maintained until the arrival of reinforcements at night, and our lines are now well formed.

No general engagement has yet taken place, but the probability is that a great battle will be fought this afternoon or to-morrow. The enemy is in great force. Our troops are now all up and well in hand.

The battle yesterday was sanguinary in the extreme. WADSWORTH'S division sustained the early portion of it with great valor, charging the enemy and taking a whole regiment of prisoners with Brig.-Gen. ARCHER. We have taken fully one thousand prisoners and lost many, most of them being wounded and in Gettysburgh, the greater portion of which the enemy now hold.

The rebels occupy Pennsylvania College as an hospital. ROBINSON'S division and one brigade of DOUBLEDAY'S supported WADSWORTH with great gallantry. The Eleventh corps, most of it fought well, and redeemed the disgrace of Chancellorsville. Among the general officers we lose beside Maj.-Gen. REYNOLDS, Gen. PAUL killed, and Gen. BARLOW wounded. Gen. SCHIMMELPENNIG is a prisoner. An estimate of yesterday's casualties cannot now be made.

Gettysburgh was injured by shells to a considerable extent. Most of the inhabitants remain in the burgh; many got away yesterday. It is a beautiful place, surrounded by a beautiful open and rolling country.

There has been more or less skirmishing all the morning, but no engagement of dimensions. Both parties are preparing for the great contest before them. Our troops are in splendid condition and fight like veterans.

Among the casualties in yesterday's engagement were the following:

Lieut. Bayard Wilkison, commanding battery G, Fourth regular artillery, son of Saml. Wilkison, Washington Correspondent of the TIMES, right leg shot off below the knee while gallantly fighting his battery against an eight gun battery of the enemy enfilading his position; believed to be prisoner.

Col. Stone, One hundred and Forty-ninth Pennsylvania, commanding brigade, badly wounded.

Col. Root, Ninety-fourth New-York, wounded and prisoner.

Col. Tilden, Sixteenth Maine, taken prisoner.

Capts. Hovey and Thomas of Gen. Robinson's Staff, wounded.

Col. Muhler, Seventy-fifth Pennsylvania, dangerously wounded.

Col. Lockman, One Hundred and Nineteenth New-York, wounded.

Adjt. Dodge, One Hundred and Nineteenth New-York, wounded and captured.

Lieut.-Col. Arrowsmith, One Hundred and Fifty-seventh New-York, killed.

The following is a list of losses of officers in Gen. SOL. MEREDITH'S brigade, WADSWORTH'S division, First army corps, in yesterday's fight:

Gen. MEREDITH, bruised on top of the head by a fragment of shell. His horse was shot under him and fell upon him, bruising and injuring him internally.

Lieut. G. W. Woodward, Aid de-Camp to Meredith, wounded in right arm.

NINETEENTH INDIANA.

Lieut.-Col. Dudley, killed.
Major Lindley, slightly wounded.
Capt. Halloway, in leg.
Capt. Shafer, in arm.
Captains Jones, Hart and Ives, wounded.
Lieut. Jones—killed.
Lieut. Patrick—wounded in both legs.
Lieut. Schlagle—mortally, Glee, Whitemore, Branson, Patrick, Nash, and Campbell—wounded.
Sergt.-Major A. W. Blanchard—killed.

SIXTH WISCONSIN.

Capt. Jno. T. Yehner—killed.
Lieutenants Remington—in left shoulder; Beatty—in arm; Pruin—in left hand; Harris—in neck; Mander and Merchant—wounded; Chapman—killed.

SECOND WISCONSIN.

Col. Fairchild—left arm amputated, doing well
Lieut.-Col. Geo. H. Stevens—mortally wounded.
Maj. John Mansfield—wounded in leg and hip.
Lieut. W. S. Winnegar—killed.
Capts. Perry and Parsons, wounded.
Lieuts. Schnwalter, Jameson, Lee, Morrison, and Dailey, wounded.
Sergt.-Major Leggett, wounded.

SEVENTH WISCONSIN.

Lieut.-Col. John Callis, wounded.
Capts. Hobart, Bean and Pond, wounded.
Lieut. Bruce, killed.
Lieuts. Johnson, Weeks, Compton, Estes, Gibson, Rind, and Funke, wounded.

TWENTY-FOURTH MICHIGAN.

Col. H. A. Morrow, slightly wounded.
Lieut.-Col. Flannegan, leg amputated.
Major Wright, slightly in right eye.
Capt. Bexford, Acting Aujuiant, severely wounded in leg.
Capt. O'Donnell, killed.
Capts. Dillon, Speed, Hoyt and Hutchinson, wounded.
Lieuts. Whiting, Safford, Wallace, Buhl, Dodsley and Sprague, wounded.
Lieuts. Shattuck, Humphreyville and Dickey, killed.

EIGHTY-THIRD NEW-YORK.

One private killed, 3 officers and 15 men wounded, 2 officers and 81 men missing.

Of Gen. BARNES'S Staff—Lieut. T. Thomas, Acting Inspector, killed; Lieut. D. P. Weaver, A. A. G., wounded; Lieut. R. C. Knoggs, A. D. C., missing.

The wounded of this brigade are all prisoners, at present, having been taken into houses near Gettysburgh and left there, as they could be better cared for.

Col. BATES, of the Twelfth Massachusetts, is wounded badly, but retains command of his regiment. The entire loss of the Second brigade is 656. They took into the fight 1,130 men.

ONE HUNDRED AND FOURTH NEW-YORK

Lost, Capt. Wiley, Capt. Fisher, Lieut. Gregge, Lieut. Rose, Lieut. Richardson, Lieut. Dow, Lieut. Kane. All wounded. Capt. Starr, Lieut. Weed, Lieut. Lamson, Lieut. Snider, Lieut. Starks, Lieut. Tuthill, Lieut. Dickson, Lieut. Stevens, Lieut. Daily, Lieut. Steele, missing.

NINETY-FOURTH NEW-YORK

Lost, Capt. White, Capt. Parsons, Lieut. Mosier, wounded. Col. R. Root, Capt. White, Lieut. Sears, Lieut. Parker, Lieut. Locklin, Capt. McMahon, Capt. Whiteside, missing.

1,057 killed, wounded and missing from First brigade, Second division, First corps.

Major Lemons, Third Indiana cavalry, killed.

Among other casualties of the day were Maj.-Gen. Reynolds, commanding First army corps, shot through the head by sharpshooter while on extreme front arranging line of battle.

Gen. Paul, severely wounded in leg, since dead.

Gen. Barlow severely wounded and prisoner.

Gen. Schimmelfennig captured.

Col. Robinson, Eighty-second Ohio, wounded; Lieut.-Col. Boobel, Twenty-sixth Wisconsin, and Maj Baltz, of the same regiment, wounded.

In the Seventh Wisconsin, partial lists, now in, already foot up twenty-five enlisted men killed and ninety-seven wounded. Many more names are yet to come in.

In the Sixth Wisconsin, partial lists show seventeen killed, one hundred and twenty two wounded, ten missing; in the Second Wisconsin, partial lists show eighteen privates killed and one hundred and twenty-two wounded.

In the Nineteenth Indiana there were nineteen killed and eighty-eight wounded. In the twenty-sixth Wisconsin, sixteen killed and one hundred and forty-four wounded. L. L. CROUNSE.

REPORTS FROM PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

The Evening Bulletin learns from parties who have arrived in this city the following particulars:

The fight opened at Gettysburgh on Wednesday, when our forces were about half a mile beyond the town.

But one brigade of the corps of Major-Gen. REYNOLDS was in position to do service at the opening of the struggle.

Gen. REYNOLDS gallantly pushed that brigade to a commanding position on Seminary Hill, and endeavored to hold it until the rest of the corps could come up.

Reinforcements were, however, delayed, and our forces subsequently fell back of the locality called Seminary Hill.

About 10,000 of our men in this fight were engaged with 30,000 of the enemy.

The last position taken by the Union forces was held up to the latest dates.

Gen. REYNOLDS was killed very early in the action, while placing the brigade in position.

During Wednesday night, about seventy-five thousand of Gen. MEADE'S troops came up and took favorable positions for reopening the battle on Thursday morning, while at that period some twenty-five thousand other Union troops belonging to the Army of the Potomac were so near at hand as to be immediately available for the conflict.

The rebels had mainly concentrated their forces near Gettysburgh on Wednesday night, and there was but little doubt that the great battle of yesterday would involve every available man of both armies.

THE BATTLE OF THURSDAY.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

BATTLE-FIELD NEAR GETTYSBURGH, Penn., Via BALTIMORE, Friday, July 3.

My brief dispatches regarding the desperate engagement of yesterday have hardly conveyed a true idea of its magnitude and character. We have now had two days' fighting. Nearly the whole of Wednesday was thus employed by the First and Eleventh Corps, with varying success, they finally being obliged to fall back before greatly superior numbers.

This morning there were strong premonitions of an early engagement with the enemy in force, but as the day wore away and no positive exhibition was made by the enemy. We began to think that perhaps there would be no immediate battle after all. We were hardly in a condition to give battle, as all our dispositions had not been made. Gen. MEADE not having arrived on the ground until 2 o'clock in the morning. The position of our forces after the fight of Wednesday was to the eastward and southward of Gettysburgh, covering the Baltimore Pike, the Taneytown and Emmittsburgh roads, and still being nearly parallel with the latter. The formation of the ground on the right and centre was excellent for defensive purposes. On our extreme left the ground sloped off until the position was no higher than the enemy's. The ground in front of our line was a level, open country, interposed here and there with an orchard or a very small tract of timber, generally oak, with the underbrush cut away. During the day, a portion of the troops threw up temporary breastworks and an abbatis. Gen. MEADE'S headquarters were at an old house on the Taneytown road, immediately in rear of the centre.

Our line was not regular in shape. Indeed the centre protruded out toward the enemy so as to form almost the two sides of a triangle. Before sundown Gen. MEADE'S headquarters proved to be the hottest place on the battle-field, so far as careless shelling was concerned.

Gen. HOWARD occupied, with his corps, a beautiful cemetery on a hill to the south of Gettysburgh. Cannons thundered, horses pranced, and men carlessly trampled over the remains of the dead. From this hill's beautiful view could be obtained of the valley, and also of a goodly portion of the enemy's line of battle.

Our forces had all been concentrated on Tuesday night, save the Fifth and Sixth corps. The former arrived during the morning, and the latter soon after noon. They were all massed immediately behind our centre.

Whether or no it was Gen. MEADE'S intention to attack, I cannot say, but he was hardly ready for it before the afternoon of yesterday. The day had become almost dull. Skirmishing was now and then brisk, and the sharpshooters in the steeples and belfreys of the churches persistently blazed away at officers and artillery horses. It was by a sharpshooter in a barn just opposite WADSWORTH'S Division, yesterday, that Capt. STEVENS, of the Fifth Maine Battery, got hit. A bullet passed through both legs below the knee, inflicting a severe, but not dangerous wound.

At 3½ o'clock, Gen. MEADE had received sufficient assurances to justify him in the belief that the rebels were concentrating their forces on our left flank, which all felt to be secure under the protection of the invincible Third corps. Our line was immediately strengthened on that flank, Gen. SICKLES' corps being sent to its support, and several batteries from the reserve being brought out and placed in position.

At about 4½ o'clock P. M., the enemy sent his first compliments by a salvo of artillery, his first shells falling uncomfortably near Gen. MEADE'S Headquarters. From this hour forth to 8½ o'clock, occurred by all odds the most sanguinary engagements yet chronicled in the annals of the war, considering its short duration. The artillery attack which was made by the enemy on the left and centre was rapidly followed by the advance of his infantry. The Third corps received the attack with great coolness. The rebels at once made for our flank, and kept moving heavy columns in that direction. This necessitated support, which was quickly given by the Fifth Corps. The division of Gen. BARNES being sent to the right, and that of Gen. AYRES, regulars, to the left, with Gen. CRAWFORD in reserve.

The battle now became perfectly fearful. The armies engaged each other at very short range, and for three long hours the war of musketry was incessant. I have heard more noise, louder crashes, in other battles, but I never saw or heard of such desperate tenacious fighting as took place on this flank. The enemy would often bring up suddenly a heavy column of men, and force our line back, only to be in turn forced back by our own line of glittering steel. Our gallant columns covered themselves with glory over and over again. They fought a superior force in numbers. The dispositions of the enemy were very rapid, for look where you would on that field a body of rebels would be advancing. Our dispositions were equally rapid, and the enemy found more than their equal in such gallant veterans as SICKLES and BIRNEY and HUMPHREYS. At half-past six Gen. SICKLES was struck in the right leg by a piece of shell, and borne from the field. The injury was so great that amputation became necessary, and it was performed successfully—the limb being taken off below the knee.

The struggle grew hotter and hotter. The Second corps was called on for aid, and though its own position was strongly threatened, yet the First division, formerly Gen. HANCOCK'S flung themselves into the fight with desperation, and after a long and obstinate conflict the enemy slowly and sullenly gave way. In this last charge the brigade of Gen. CALDWELL, Second corps, and that of Col. SWITZER, from the Fifth corps, won great honors. The charges made by our men deserve mention, but want of time forbids. The rebels made frequent attempts to capture our artillery, and at one time had WATSON'S battery in their possession, but it was retaken in a furious charge by BIRNEY'S division.

The battle lasted till fully 8½ o'clock, when the enemy fell back to his old position, and left our veterans the ensanguined victors of that field. Our pickets were thrown out, and our lines covered most of the field, including a great number of the enemy's dead and wounded.

I visited some portions of the line by moonlight and can bear personal witness to the terrible ferocity of the battle. In front of some of our brigades, who had good protection from stone walls or fences, the rebel dead laid piled in lines like winrows of hay. In front of Gen. WEED'S—the Philadelphia—brigade, they lay so thick as to literally cover the ground. Not far from here was found the body of Gen. BARKSDALE, that once haughty and violent rebel, who craved as a dying boon a cup of water and a stretcher from an ambulance-boy. He is literally cut to pieces wite wounds, and must die.

A great and magnificent feature of this fight is the splendid use of artillery. Though our line of battle was only a mile and a half long, yet almost every battery belonging to the Army of the Potomac was more or less engaged. Every one of the reserve batteries was brought into action, the positions for use being numerous. The enemy also used artillery largely, but not to near so great an extent as we did. From this they suffered immensely, and specially on the left, where canister was largely used. I believe we lost no artillery, unless it was two or three disabled pieces, though it was very wonderful we did not considering how the enemy's forces were piled on to them. Some of their skirmishers were literally blown away from the muzzles of our guns.

Our losses at this hour cannot be computed, but for two days' fighting they are very heavy. We mourn the loss of many valuable officers, but they have been amply avenged in the hecatombs of rebel dead, who lie piled along the lines.

Between 10 o'clock and midnight a consultation was called by Gen. MEADE of all corps commanders, and after deliberation it was unanimously decided to maintain our present positions at all hazards, and fight as long as there was a man left.

The death of Lieut.-Gen. LONGSTREET is reported by prisoners taken from his corps. I know of no other authority for it.

The enemy withdrew his forces from the City of Gettysburgh yesterday, and occupies it now only with skirmishers. Our skirmishers advanced into it a short distance last night, and now hold considerably more than they did.

There is much doubt whether the enemy will renew the attack at daylight, but the expression on all hands is, "we are ready."

Capt. DAHLGREN, Volunteer Aid to Gen. PLEASANTON, made a daring scout into Hagerstown yesterday with twenty picked men, and captured more prisoners than he had men in his party. He also captured a dispatch bearer from JEFF. DAVIS to LEE, with dispatches of the greatest importance, the nature of which cannot to-day be properly disclosed. They have an important bearing on "coming events."

L. L. CROUSE.

YESTERDAY'S BATTLE.

Our Special Telegrams from the Battle Field.

GETTYSBURGH, Friday, July 3.

The third day's battle began this morning at 4 o'clock. It is now 7 o'clock, and a circle of fire of musketry and artillery on the south side of Gettysburgh describes the field of contest. The musketry fight is wholly within the woods; the artillery occupies the eminences shorn of timber.

The attack was commenced by the rebels on our right. The fight there has been unceasing, and the irregularity of the fire—slack and scattering for a while, and then heavy and continuous—indicates reinforcements of both sides.

The men at this hour are in the best of spirits, and the general officers feel confident of the result. The battle has been planned and thus far fought by Gen. MEADE with equal prudence (ably and energetically assisted by Gen. BUTTERFIELD, who has not left the Army of the Potomac, and courage.

The day is now overcast, and the air damp and cool. The sky threatens rain, and a fog already obscures the outer edge of the field of battle.

QUARTER OF EIGHT, A. M.

Gen. BARKSDALE, of Miss., wounded yesterday, is lying dead within our lines. The rumor of the death of LONGSTREET, brought by rebel prisoners yesterday, is confirmed by prisoners taken this morning. LONGSTREET'S and HILL'S corps are said to be fighting on the right; EWELL'S in front.

10 O'CLOCK A. M.

Sixteen hundred prisoners, thus far during the engagement, have been sent to the rear, and more are here.

What the result may be to-day cannot now be predicted. HANCOCK, HOWARD, SLOCUM, WARREN, GIBBON and all the general officers have given the highest evidence to-day of capacity, energy and spirit.

Important dispatches have been captured by Capt. DAHLGREN and the gallant scout KLINE, from JEFF. DAVIS and COOPER to Gen. LEE. They indicate anxiety for the position of Richmond. Both decline to send LEE the reinforcements from BEAUREGARD he asked for. WILKESON.

NEWS RECEIVED IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

The information received here is that the battle at Gettysburgh last night was extremely fierce and stubborn. Heavy and determined assaults were made by the rebels, which were gallantly met by our troops.

This morning at daylight the contest was spiritedly renewed. Our army drove the enemy, who in turn drove ours, the fighting being desperately severe, and the fiercest, probably, of the war.

Prisoners report that LONGSTREET was killed, and this seems to be confirmed by later intelligence.

Col. CROSS, of New-Hampshire, and Gen. ZOOK, of New-York, are among the killed.

Gen. SICKLES, it is said, was wounded, and had his leg amputated on the field.

Gen. BARKSDALE, of the rebel army, is killed, and his body is our possession.

The latest intelligence received here was up to 11 o'clock to day.

Rebel mail matter was captured. Among the letters, it is reported, is a letter from JEFF. DAVIS to LEE, saying he could send him no more troops as RICHMOND was seriously threatened.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

Gen. LONGSTREET is reported killed, but there is no confirmation.

NOTHING OF IMPORTANCE ADDITIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, July 4—2 A. M.

The latest official information received from Gen. MEADE is up 12½ o'clock Friday noon. All was quiet at that hour.

Considerable firing both of artillery and infantry had taken place in various parts of our lines up to that time, and several hundred prisoners had been taken since morning.

NEWS RECEIVED IN PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

A special dispatch to Forney's Press dated Hanover, 1 P. M., via Washington, July 3, says:

At 10 this morning our forces opened on about 5,000 rebels, who advanced on the field at daybreak, for the purpose of pillaging our dead.

The rebels hastily retreated. The fight thus far has been the most terrific of the war. The loss on both sides was heavy. Gen. SICKLES was wounded severely. His right leg was amputated, and he is doing well. A desperate battle rages.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

REPORTS FROM HARRISBURGH.

HARRISBURGH, Friday, July 3.

There is great excitement here to know the result of the battle fought yesterday and last night between Gen. MEADE and LEE'S army.

Persons at Columbia and Bainbridge, and in the neighborhood of York, heard distinctly the roar of artillery. At times it was rapid and heavy.

At daylight this morning it was again renewed. The battle must have been in the neighborhood of Gettysburgh.

Telegraphic communication has been reopened with Baltimore, by way of the Northern Central Railroad.

There have been no movements in this Department worth mentioning.

HARRISBURGH, Penn., Friday, July 3.

The city is in the greatest state of suspense. All rebel infantry and detachments of cavalry, under JENKINS, IMBODEN and FITZ HUGH LEE, have disappeared from the front, and travel has been resumed between this city and Carlisle. Nothing is yet known as to the result, but the impression prevails that the great decisive battle of the campaign has been fought in the neighborhood of Cashtown.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

A special dispatch to the Bulletin from Harrisburgh says:

Nothing is yet known as to results, but the impression prevails that the great decisive battle of the campaign has been fought in the neighborhood of Cashtown, between Gettysburgh and Chambersburgh.

It is believed that we have suffered heavy losses in officers and men, but LEE is so crippled as to be placed on the defensive.

Yesterday Gen. MEADE assumed the offensive. The day before LEE had attacked MEADE, and was repulsed with heavy loss.

LEE holds a gap in South Mountain near Chambersburgh, through which he hopes to escape if defeated. A guard stationed at Bridge eighty-four on the Northern Central Railroad, heard firing in that direction like that of flying artillery, whence it is believed that PLEASANTON is again at work with his dashing cavalry, fighting for the possession of the Gap.

HARRISBURGH, Friday, July 3—Midnight.

A prominent citizen of Gettysburgh, who left there yesterday morning on a pass issued by Gen. EWELL to go to Heidleburgh, met STUART, FITZHUGH LEE and WADE HAMPTON, with what he estimated at 10,000 cavalry, who were moving in the direction of Gettysburgh.

Their officers told him that LEE had no intention of leaving Pennsylvania, but was going to remain here until his army was destroyed or victorious. He arrived here this evening, the enemy making no effort to detain him.

Two militia men from Susquehanna County were killed this evening at Camp Curtin by lightning.

A dispatch from Loudon this morning states that yesterday the rebels left Chambersburgh, taking the road in the direction of Gettysburgh. Before leaving, they burned the depot and workshops belonging to the railroad. Loudon is fourteen miles west of Chambersburgh.

The enemy also evacuated Shippensburgh yesterday, moving in the same direction.

Everything goes to show that LEE has his whole army concentrated between Cashtown and Gettysburgh.

The train that left Carlisle at seven o'clock this evening, brought down twenty-four rebel deserters who had come in from the mountains. They know nothing about the result of the battle, but state that both armies are fighting with great desperation.

Firing was heard from daylight up to three o'clock this afternoon, at different points down the river.

REPORTS FROM COLUMBIA, PENN.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

The Evening Bulletin has the following special dispatch:

COLUMBIA, Penn., Friday, July 3.

Capt. ROBERTS, of Philadelphia, who was captured near Gettysburgh and paroled, has arrived here.

He reports that yesterday, beyond York, a courier from Gen. MEADE to Gen. COUCH stopped at a house to have his horse fed.

The women in the house became alarmed, and blew a horn to collect the neighbors; when the courier, fearing that the noise would reach the rebels, threatened them if they did not desist.

At this moment the owner of the house arrived, and, taking the courier for a rebel, drew a pistol and killed him.

The courier's dispatches were subsequently sent to Baltimore, very foolishly, instead of to Harrisburgh.

Capt. ROBERTS says that numbers of people in York and Adams Counties offered every possible assistance to the rebels, pointing out to them the property of Union citizens and of the Government, and showing them the roads.

Heavy and continuous artillery firing was heard yesterday afternoon and last night in the direction of Dover, eight miles northwest of York.

REPORTS FROM WRIGHTSVILLE, PENN.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

The Press, of this city, has the following special dispatch:

WRIGHTSVILLE, Penn, Thursday, July 2, Twelve o'clock—Midnight.

Our forces are known to have gained upon the enemy until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Since 5 o'clock the firing has been much heavier and more rapid, indicating a general engagement between the entire armies.

The rebel force is concentrated on South Mountain, toward Carlisle, six miles north of Gettysburgh.

Gen. SEDGWICK'S corps passed York, in the direction of Dover, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. It is in the rear of the enemy.

The Second army corps moved up from Hanover at 8 o'clock this morning.

The reported burning of Gettysburgh is unfounded.

REPORTS FROM BALTIMORE.

BALTIMORE, Friday, July 3.

A gentleman from Parkton, twenty-six miles from Baltimore, says that cannonading was heard there from noon yesterday until nine o'clock last night.

The cannonading was very heavy and was resumed again at daylight this morning with great fury.

It is positively known, however, that there was no

THE NATIONAL ANNIVERSARY.

CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH.

Pyrotechnic Display—Military Parade—Orators of the Day, &c.

The Eighty-seventh Anniversary of our National Independence takes place to-day. Notwithstanding the war, and the anxiety that all loyal men feel for the triumph of our arms, arrangements for a fitting celebration of our Natal day have not been forgotten. At noon the Veterans of 1812 will raise the National Standard on the Battery, and fire a salute; at sunrise a National salute of 34 guns will be discharged. At 8 o'clock A. M.,

THE MILITARY,

At least that part of the First division not gone to the war, will form in line on Fourteenth-street, and march down Broadway to the City Hall, where they will pay the honors of a marching salute to the Mayor and members of the Common Council. Maj.-Gen. CHARLES W. SANDFORD will be in command. The military display will not be so grand as usual, as the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Twenty-second, Thirty-seventh, Fifty-fifth, Sixty-ninth and Seventy-first regiments are now away at the seat of war doing battle for the preservation of the Union.

THE PYROTECHNIC DISPLAY.

The display of fireworks will be equal, if it does not surpass anything of the kind ever attempted in this City. Messrs. ENDE & Co., of Jersey City, are the manufacturers. Subjoined is a list of the places where they will let off, and the names of the various bands that will be in attendance:

City Hall	Cornell's Band
East Broadway and Grand-street	Hill's Band
Madison-square	Schenmiller's Band
Tompkins-square	Wannemaker's Band
West Broadway and Franklin-street	Hollweg's Band
Liberty-square	Heller's Band
Broadway and Forty-third-street	Wannemaker's Band
Hammersley and Houston streets	Rohne's Band
Battery	Wallace's Band
Eighty-third-street and Third-avenue	Moller's Band
Mount Morris	Rubel's Band
Jackson-square	Rubel's Band
Tenth-avenue and Kingsbridge road	Sartori's Band
Marion and Spring streets	Wallace's Band
Thirty-fourth-st., between 8th and 9th avs.	Blind Band

RANDALL'S ISLAND.

The Commissioners of Charities and Correction have so arranged that the children on Randall's Island shall endeavor to celebrate the "Fourth" with a proper amount of patriotism. Of their private purses the Commissioners have furnished torpedoes and crackers, and have arranged an interesting programme for the entidren.

BLACKWELL'S ISLAND.

Our poor insane have not been forgotten in the arrangements for the general rejoicing, an appropriation having been made expressly for the entertainment of the poor demented creatures.

ORATIONS.

At the Academy of Music Gov. SEYMOUR will deliver an oration, assisted by Hon. JOEL PARKER, Governor of New-Jersey; Hon. THOS. H. SEYMOUR, Ex-Governor of Connecticut; RICHARD O'GORMAN, Esq., and Hon. GEORGE H. PENDLETON, of Ohio. All of which will be under the auspices of the Young Men's Democratic Association. At Tammany Hall, the orator of the day will be Hon. HENRY C. MURPHY; and an original poem will also be read by Mr. HENRY C. MORFORD.

TRINITY CHURCH CHIMES.

MR JAMES E. AYLIFFE, the well-known bell ringer of Trinity Church, will ring the following tunes upon the bells at 6 A. M. and 12 M.:

No. 1 Ringing the changes on eight bells.
No 2 "Hail Columbia."
No 3. "Yankee Doodle."
No. 4. "Old Dog Tray."
No. 5 Grand Medley, arranged expressly for Trinity Church Chimes by GEORGE F. BRISTOW.
No. 6 "Evening Bells."
No. 7 Air by DE BERIOT.
No. 8. "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."
No 9. "Last Rose of Summer."
No. 10 "Rondo," with variations in major and minor keys, composed for Trinity Chimes, by GEO. F. BRISTOW.
No. 11. Airs from "Child of the Regiment."
No. 12. "Star Spangled Banner."
No. 13. "Rise Gallant Sons of Scotland."
No. 14. "Home, Sweet Home."
No. 15. "Hail Columbia."
No 16. "Yankee Doodle."

EXCURSIONS.

Those who wish to escape from the heat and dust of the City, and noise of the fire-crackers, have an admirable opportunity of doing so. By referring to our advertising columns it will be found that there are excursions to all places of popular resort within an easy distance of New-York. In most instances the excursionists will be enabled to return in ample time to witness the fireworks.

THE THEATRES.

At Niblo's Garden, this evening, JOHN BROUGHAM'S romantic drama of "The Duke's Motto" will be performed, Mr. WHEATLEY appearing in his celebrated character of Capt. Henri de Lagardere.

"Sarah, the Hebrew; or, the Dream of Destiny," will be the attraction at Barnum's Museum, together with Gen. Tom Thumb, his wife, Commodore Nutt, and all the other attractions for which Mr. BARNUM is celebrated.

Army and Navy Movements.

THE FOURTH.

The following is understood to be the programme in local army and naval circles for the celebration of the Fourth of July:

First—Salutes will be fired from Governor's Island, the Navy-yard cobdock, and the foreign vessels in port.

Second—United States men-of-war at anchor off the Navy-yard are to dress ship, and to read the Declaration of Independence.

Third—No work is to be performed in the different departments of the yard.

Fourth—Marine parade will take place, and the usual guard mount occur.

Fifth—Deserving sailors and soldiers will be given liberty, —being enjoined to refrain from excesses of all kinds.

Sixth—The day is to be observed generally in the army and navy as a holiday.

THE NEW STEAM CORVETTE SHENANDOAH.

This vessel, after a successful trial trip, arrived at Boston on Tuesday, and dropped anchor off the Navy-yard. The Shenandoah is the last of the twelve new steam sloops recently constructed at the various navy-yards. She has never been under sail, but propelled by steam alone. She made twelve knots with ease. She is a splendid vessel in every respect. Her tonnage is 1,500 tons, and she requires a ship's company of 200 men. Her armament is as follows: one 150-pounder pivot-gun and one 100-pounder pivot-gun amidships, one 11-inch Dahlgren, one 30-pounder pivot-gun in forecastle, four 20-pounder howitzers. The following is a list of her officers: Captain, DAN. B. RIDGELY; Lieutenant-Commander, J. S. Skerrett; Lieutenant and Master, S. W. Nichols; Chief Engineer, James W. Thomson; Assistant Paymaster, C. M. Guild; Surgeon, J. McMaster; Acting Master, J. W. Benton; Ensigns, H. C. Taylor, Yates Stirling; Acting Ensigns, H. S. Borden, Wm. H. Brice; First Assistant Engineer, J. M. Hobby; Second Assistant Engineers, D. P. McCartney, J. F. Melcher; Third Assistant Engineers, F. Joundrow, D. M. Fulmer, J. W. Gardner, R. M. Hodgson; Captain's Clerk, J. S. Battee; Paymaster's Clerk, Chas. C. Thomson; Acting Master's Mates, L. H. White, J. A. Bullard, H. Miller; Boatswain, James H. Polly; Gunner, Wm. Hardison.

Commissioners of Charities and Correction.

At the regular semi-monthly meeting of this Board yesterday, the receipts of the last two weeks were stated to have been $350 36. The weekly statement of the Board shows the inmates of the various institutions under their charge, on the 20th of June, to have been 6,200; admitted since, 1,803. Total 8,003. Of whom 42 have died, 1,416 have been discharged, 376 sent to Blackwell's Island, and 10 sent to the State Prison, leaving 6,159 on hand the 27th of June. Of these, 1,279 are in the Almshouse, 711 in the Workhouse, 806 in the Lunatic Asylum, 650 in Bellevue Hospital, 686 in the Island Hospital, 702 on Randall's Island and the remainder in the various other institutions under the charge of the Commissioners.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

THE LATE COL. M. K. BRYAN.—A meeting of the friends, residents of this City, was held at the Park Hotel on Thursday, to make arrangements for participating in the reception of the remains. A Committee, consisting of Aldermen TRACEY, JOHNSON and COWELL, of Albany, the late residence of deceased, were invited to be present. The remains are daily expected from New-Orleans, and an invitation is extended to all Albanians, now residents at New-York, and to all friends of the deceased in the City, to join in the honors, of which due notice will be given. The Common Council have taken action in the matter, and this is eminently proper, as the One Hundred and Seventy-fifth having been largely recruited in and officered from New-York. After the recention here, the remains will be surrendered to the authorities of Albany.

NEW-YORK, HARLEM AND ALBANY RAILROAD.—The Sunday Excursion trains on the Harlem Railroad have succeeded beyond the expectations of those interested. The facilities afforded for the enjoyment of the country at inconsiderable cost are liberally patronized. Those who have not the chance of visiting the delightful scenery of Lake Mahopac during the week, can do so on Sunday by the 8½ A. M. train, which returns to the City the same evening.

THE CITY GOVERNMENT.

[OFFICIAL.]

THE STREET DEPARTMENT.

Report of the Special Committee of the Common Council.

The Special Committee to whom was referred the annexed resolution directing them "to examine and report at as early a day as practicable, all the information they may be enabled to obtain, touching the administration of the Street Department, during the pendency of the controversy for the control of the office by Messrs. Devlin and Conover," &c., respectfully,

REPORT:

That immediately after their appointment, they proceeded to discharge the duty intrusted to them, though not without serious misgivings as to their ability to perform satisfactorily such duties, owing to the lapse of time since the controversy alluded to in the resolution had terminated; and the apprehension that all, or at least many of the papers connected therewith, had either been lost, mislaid, or had ceased to exist, and that some, if not many of the participants, other than the principals in the struggle for the occupancy and control of the Street Department, at the period alluded to, whose testimony it might be essential for the Committee to obtain, in order to arrive at a proper and satisfactory conclusion, would, upon being sought for, be found to have passed from their jurisdiction.

Your committee, also, participating in a feeling they believe to be general, were at first decidedly adverse to taking any measure designed either directly or indirectly to cause a reopening of the controversy, feeling assured that no benefit or advantage would accrue to the public therefrom, and that, in all probability, the examination, if once commenced, would result in the expenditure of much time and labor on the part of the committee, and be productive of no positive result of importance sufficient to warrant them in undertaking the examination.

The Committee are also willing to admit that they were, as they believe in common with the great majority of our citizens, deeply prejudiced against both the principal actors in the controversy—a prejudice which owed its existence to the forcible and unwarranted attempt of one of them to usurp the powers and prerogatives of the City Government, in seeking to obtain possession of a responsible and lucrative city or quasi city office, by appointment from the Governor of the State, in derogation of the rights of the corporate authorities of this City—while the impressions remaining upon the minds of your Committee, respecting the other claimant, were of the most vivid description, and were of a character adverse to his reputation as a man of purity. These impressions were produced by perusing the expose of alleged malpractices of the said office of Street Commissioner, as contained in reports made from time to time in the Common Council by the then Comptroller, and the mutual criminations and recriminations of the respective contestants. Nothing but the express and peremptory directions embodied in the resolution passed by the Board of Aldermen would have induced them to forego their inclination to abandon the whole subject ere the investigation was commenced.

Influenced solely by the feelings and motives abovementioned, they overcame their reluctance to commence the investigation, and at their preliminary meeting they determined upon their course for proceeding in conducting the examination, and for obvious reasons concluded to commence by summoning before them Mr. Charles Devlin, the person appointed by the then Mayor and Board of Aldermen to fill the vacancy in the office of Street Commissioner, occasioned by the death of Joseph S. Taylor, and obtain his evidence, in connection with the subject under examination. As will appear in the sequel, the course adopted was the proper one; it resulted in placing in their possession facts entirely unexpected by them; it enabled them to form a clear understanding of the merits of the controversy, and was instrumental in placing before Common Council and the public the acts of one of the contestants, in a light entirely different from that in which they have heretofore been regarded.

And here, in order to convey a proper understanding of the facts in the case, to the members of the Common Council, who, in all probability, have forgotten all but the principal incidents, a condensed history of the controversy may not be out of place, or prove uninteresting.

Joseph S. Taylor was elected to the office of Street Commissioner in November, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five, after a very close and exciting canvass, entered upon the discharge of the duties of the office January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, and retained the office until June following, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, when he died.

On the thirteenth day of the same month, the Governor of the State, John A. King, in the spirit of unlimited and officious intermeddling in the municipal affairs of this City that characterized the ever-memorable State Legislature and Executive of that year, and which has been productive of results the most unfortunate and calamitous to the interests of the City, peculiarly and otherwise, appointed Daniel D. Conover to the vacancy occasioned by Joseph S. Taylor's death, and on the sixteenth day of the same month the Board of Aldermen on the nomination of the Mayor, confirmed the appointment of Charles Devlin to the said office.

Then arose the contest for the possession of the office between the rival claimants; Mr. Devlin, as the appointee of the Governor, and the legislature, by authority contained in the charter of the City, vesting power for the control of the office, and at the same time, the guaranteed rights of the Corporation; Mr. Conover, with a pertinacious and pugnacity worthy of a better cause, aided by all the powers of the State, disputing the claim of Mr. Devlin and his adherents. The contest was finally brought to a close by a decision in the Court of Appeals, triumphantly vindicating the rights of the people of the City to the enjoyment of self-government, by deciding unanimously in favor of Mr. Devlin, the appointee of the City authorities.

Upon the decease of Mr. Taylor, and pending the appointment of his successor by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, the then Deputy Street Commissioner, Charles Turner, continued in possession, and discharged the duties of the office; and upon the installation of Mr. Devlin, the affairs of the department were replaced in their ordinary position and wonted routine, and would have continued so, but for the discreditable subsequent proceedings of Mr. Conover, and his aiders and abettors.

It was evidently Mr. Conover's proper course to refrain from anything like active interference in the affairs of the office, and to await the decisions of the legal tribunals having cognizance of the question in dispute, before proceeding to extreme measures to invest him with the possession and control of the office. Had he pursued a contrary course, and on the eighteenth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, backed by a posse of the Metropolitan or State Police, acting under color of a decision from some partisan Judge or tribunal, and accompanied by a bevy of the subordinates of his own appointment, seized Mr. Devlin and incarcerated him in Eldridge-street jail; Mr. Turner, his Deputy, forcibly ejected from the office, and Mr. Conover as forcibly installed as head of the Street Department, assuming the title of Street Commissioner of the City of New-York, claiming to act for and on behalf of the City authorities who had appointed by a power entirely foreign, constantly inimical to them, and against their earnest and repeated efforts to the contrary, and so continued to act until finally disposed of by a decision in the Court of Appeals, adverse to his assumption, and the assumptions of those from whom he received his ill-timed appointment.

Pending the decision of the Court, matters remained in the condition above stated—the office with all its books, accounts, vouchers, &c, remaining in the possession, and it may be said, undisputed control, of a usurper, and withal, a bitter and unrelenting political, if not personal, adversary of the appointee of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen—no effort being made by Mr. Devlin, to obtain possession thereof, during the pendency of the trial for the title of the office. In the meantime no pains were spared, or expedient left untried, calculated to undermine the confidence of the public in the honesty and integrity of the claimant of the city, which was not resorted to and taken advantage of, by the incumbent to influence the action of the Court, or failing in that, to effect the removal of his rival, by the same authority that created him. Failing to succeed in the former, the latter expedient was resorted to, with more success, for, on the twelfth day of April eighteen hundred and fifty-three, the Mayor suspended Mr. Devlin, upon charges furnished by Mr. Conover, and preferred at a subsequent meeting of the Board of Aldermen. On the nineteenth Mr. Devlin was removed, and Mr. Edward Cooper, one of the relatives of the Mayor, was nominated and confirmed in his place, at the same meeting of the Board.

It will be borne in mind that the Mayor, from whom Mr. Devlin received his appointment, and the Board of Aldermen that confirmed it, had ceased to exist, their respective terms of office having expired, and in their places were elected officers as bitterly hostile to Mr. Devlin, politically, as Mr Conover himself.

The foregoing will serve to recall to the minds of the members of the present Common Council the leading incidents connected with this one, of the many other much to be regretted and over-officious interferences of the Legislature and Executive of the State, during the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, in the municipal government of this City—an interference, in his instance, pronounced to be illegal by the highest judicial tribunal in the State, a decision, which it is to be hoped, will forever deter others from undertaking such unauthorized and unconstitutional assumptions of Executive power.

Your Committee, in pursuing their investigations, have ascertained the following facts, which are given in order to exhibit the discreditable irregularities that characterized the removal of Mr. Devlin, immediately after the decision of the Court of Appeals, conferring upon him the title to the office of Street Commissioner, and will also tend to exhibit the unrelenting malignity that characterized the subsequent proceedings of his enemies.

The decision in question was rendered on the ninth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight; on the twelfth, the Mayor transmitted a message to the Board of Aldermen removing Mr. Devlin, and asking the concurrence of the Board in such removal. On the same day Mr. Devlin, in a communication to the Board protesting against his removal except for cause, claimed to be heard before the Board in answer to any charges the Mayor might prefer against him. He also claimed that he be served with a copy of such charges, that time be allowed him for defence, and that he be represented by counsel. On the fifteenth day of the same month (three days after the suspension and attempted removal of Mr. Devlin), the Mayor preferred certain charges against him, which were referred to a Special Committee appointed to consider the subject of his removal, together with his claim to be heard in his defence. On the nineteenth, at the very next meeting of the Board, the said Special Committee reported as follows:

"The Special Committee to whom was referred the communication from his Honor the Mayor, suspending Charles Devlin from the office of Street Commissioner upon charges preferred against him, several petitions asking for his removal, together with a communication from Charles Devlin on the subject, respectfully

REPORT:

That they have carefully considered the matters so referred, and from the nature of the charges they have agreed not to enter into a detailed investigation of the papers and documents, nor of examining any witnesses on the subject, for the following reasons:

First. The Board having, by resolution, instructed your Committee to report on the subject on the nineteenth instant (this evening), they could not in the short space of time allowed them open the case and examine the charges preferred, nor give the party accused an opportunity of being heard in his defence, an inalienable right guaranteed by our Constitution and laws to the humblest citizen charged with the commission of crime.

Second. To enter into a thorough examination of the charges would occupy several weeks, if not months, thereby opening a lengthy controversy, and causing an unnecessary interruption in the public business of that department.

Third. This department having been for nearly a year paralyzed and inoperative, by the litigations to decide the right of appointment of Street Commissioner, the public works connected therewith have been neglected, and the property of the City impaired to a great extent; necessity, therefore, imperatively demands that this important branch of our City Government should now be put into active operation without any further delay.

Fourth. Your Committee are fully satisfied that the twenty-first Section of the Charter of 1857, which provides as follows: "The Mayor shall have the power to suspend for cause, during any recess of the Common Council, and by and with the consent of the Aldermen, remove any of the heads of the departments, except the Comptroller and Counsel to the Corporation," gives the Mayor and Board of Aldermen full control over the appointment or removal of the heads of the departments in question.

For the foregoing reasons, your Committee have concluded to submit the whole matter back to the Board for such action as may be considered necessary, and for the best interests of the City."

The report was accepted by the Board, the Committee was discharged from the further consideration of the subject, and was immediately followed by the adoption of a preamble and resolution concurring in the action of the Mayor, in removing Mr. Devlin from the office of Street Commissioner.

A perusal of the above report of the Special Committee, with the subsequent action of the Board in removing Mr. Devlin, first impressed your Committee with the idea that possibly other and greater injustice had been done him, and determined them to pursue their investigations further, with a view of confirming or dissipating such impressions.

They reasoned thus: If the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, in the exercise of a power or prerogative conferred upon them by the Charter—the existence of which had been denied, entirely ignored—and the exercise of which they had virtually been deprived of by the State authorities in the appointment of Mr. Conover, could or would, immediately upon being reinvested with such power or prerogative through the instrumentality of Mr. Devlin—who, unaided and alone, for a period of nearly twelve months, conducted a suit at law through all its stages, and at his own personal cost and expense, until it was finally decided in his and their favor—remove from office him to whom they were indebted for the restoration of the right, it was not to be expected that those who had persistently denied the existence of this power or prerogative, would deal more leniently with him whom they regarded, and very justly so, as their unrelenting opponent, the only obstacle in their way for securing place and power. In other words, if the Mayor and Board of Aldermen denied or failed to give Mr. Devlin the opportunity to be heard in his own defence, after placing in their hands the power to become his accusers and judges, and removed him, unheard, from the office his personal efforts placed at their disposal, thus becoming himself the first victim of a power he had done so much to restore, and which fell from them—those from whom he had wrested the power—those who had denied it to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, and claimed the right to exercise it themselves—could not, on the same principle, be regarded as acting in a reprehensible manner, by doing him still greater wrong and injustice, by visiting their greater indignity upon him—in fact, that he could not expect justice or consideration from his enemies, when justice and consideration were denied him by his friends, or those who should have been his friends.

Accordingly, your Committee determined to take up the charges preferred by the Mayor, before stated, on the fifteenth of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, and which contain the essence of all the allegations of fraud ever made against him by those interested in defaming his character, in the order in which they were made, and give Mr. Devlin the opportunity to disprove them, if in his power to do so.

They are as follows:

First Charge.

On February twenty-five, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, a warrant upon the Chamberlain was drawn in the handwriting of said J. B. Smith, purporting to be for a curb and gutter in Thirty sixth-street, between the Eighth and Ninth avenues, for the sum of three thousand seven hundred and forty-two dollars and eighty-six cents, in favor of Henry Bigelow, assignee.

On the back of the warrant, in the handwriting of the said Smith, are the words: "This may be paid to the order of Charles Devlin," signed A. C. Flagg, Comptroller, and indorsed Charles Devlin, assignee, in the handwriting of said Devlin. This warrant was deposited by Devlin to his credit in the Bowery Bank, and was paid by the Chamberlain.

An inspection of the books and documents in the Comptroller's and Street Commissioner's offices show that there was no contract or work on Thirty-sixth-street, between the avenues aforesaid, with which Henry Bigelow, as assignee or otherwise, or Charles Devlin, as assignee or otherwise, had any connection. Upon inquiry it is ascertained that no Bigelow, named in the warrant, had no connection therewith; that he did not procure it, nor at any time have the same in his possession; that he never indorsed it nor delivered it to said Devlin; and there can be no doubt that said warrant was procured by Devlin, through the agency of the said J. B. Smith, fraudulently and with full knowledge that no contract existed for the work named, and that nothing was due whatever to said Bigelow or to himself upon the account pretended.

Reply to Charge Number One.

In reply to charge number one, Mr. Devlin says: That it had been for years past customary for various parties to cash for a discount of warrants issued by the Comptroller in payment of claims against the Corporation, and for the payment of which there may not be at the time sufficient funds in the Treasury. He had, for several years cashed these warrants when his friends would allow him to do so, and was so prepared when the warrant referred to in this charge was offered to him. Having observed that the indorsement from the parties to whom the warrants were issued, was generally wanting on the warrant, Mr. Devlin required that the Comptroller should, with his own signature, make the warrant payable to him. This was done by Mr. Flagg himself, while Mr. Devlin was in the Comptroller's office, and in his presence. Mr. Devlin was requested by John O'Toole to cash the warrant, but declining so went to Mr. Flagg personally with O'Toole, to have the payment made to Devlin, Flagg holding the assignment. The proceeds of the warrant was entered upon the journal of Devlin, folio one hundred and ninety-two, to the credit of J. B. Smith, and appears on the credit of the account with Smith on the ledger, folio fifty. The debit side of the same account shows the sums of money, and the various dates, paid by Devlin to J. B. Smith for this amount. Most of the payments to Smith were made in checks, which went regularly through bank and now in possession of Devlin, having gone through bank, paid and cancelled.

The contract on which the payment purported to be made was unknown to Devlin, he acting in good faith and suspecting no wrong under the circumstances of his receiving the warrant.

Second Charge.

On the eighteenth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, a warrant upon the Chamberlain was drawn in the handwriting of the said J. B. Smith, purporting to be on account for the curb and gutter of Fifty-fourth-street, between Second and Third avenues, for the sum of two thousand two hundred and sixteen dollars and eighteen cents, in favor of said Charles Devlin, and is endorsed by said Charles Devlin, in his handwriting. This warrant was deposited by said Devlin, to his credit, in the Bowery Bank, and was paid by the Chamberlain.

There was no contract, whatever, upon which this money, or any part of it, was payable; and there is no entry in any book in the Comptroller's office on the subject, except in the check book and a book called the audit book, which is a journal into which entries are in the handwriting of said J. B. Smith. The entry in the audit book has a check mark; and also the figures twenty-nine in the handwriting of said J. B. Smith, which indicate that the entry was posted to twenty-nine of the ledger.

An examination of the ledger shows no such account at that page, or any other.

Nothing can be more conclusive than these facts. The money was obtained without the slightest right to it, and the warrant was drawn to Devlin's own order, and was indorsed by him.

Reply to Chahge Number Two.

This warrant was presented by James B. Smith to Charles Devlin, and was accompanied by an assignment authorizing the payment of the money due on the pretended contract to be made to Smith. Smith retained the assignment as directed by Low, to be filed in the office of the Comptroller. Without this assignment, Mr. Flagg had no business to sign the check. Mr. Devlin had no means of examining the affairs of the Finance Department, for the purpose of knowing whether there was or was not such an amount due on the contract named, or whether there was or was not such a contract; he only knew that Smith held such an assignment as was satisfactory to Mr. Flagg. Mr. Devlin gave to J. B. Smith, on the twentieth day of March, One thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, his check on Bowery Bank, payable to the order of Smith, which check has been exhibited to your Committee by the said bank and is marked by the bank as paid. The check is for the sum of two thousand two hundred and sixteen dollars.

Subsequent to the purchase by Devlin of this warrant, he (Devlin) addressed a letter to Mr. Flagg, requesting that the assignments made by the parties to J. B. Smith, and upon warrants in the hands of purchasers, should be delivered to him as his security, in case the original parties should ever claim the payment. To this letter Mr. Flagg returned the following answer:

FINANCE DEPARTMENT COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
(No 5 Hall of Records,)
NEW-YORK, May 4, 1857.

DEAR SIR—Your attention is called to the latter part of section twenty-two of the amended Charter, which states "No money shall be drawn from the City Treasury but upon vouchers for the expenditure thereof, examined and allowed by the Auditor, and approved by the Comptroller, and filed in his office."

Also to section thirty-eight, in regard to contracts and supplies to be furnished.

A strict compliance with the terms of these sections will be required before payments from the Treasury, and no vouchers will be permitted to be taken from this Department after being filed. Yours respectfully,

A. C. FLAGG, Comptroller.

The vouchers now so valuable to Mr. Devlin cannot be found. The above letter satisfied him, and he continued to cash warrants and claims, as he and others had previously done.

Third Charge.

On the eighth of October, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, a warrant was drawn upon the Chamberlain in the handwriting of the said J. B. Smith, purporting to be for the balance due for the construction of a sewer in Thirty-eighth-street, for the sum of three hundred and fifty-four dollars and thirty cents, in favor of the Bowery Bank, and endorsed Charles Devlin. Said warrant was indorsed "Pay Charles Devlin, Esq., or order, Enoch Dean, President," and by Charles Devlin in his handwriting. This warrant was paid by the Chamberlain.

At the same time that this warrant was issued, there was obtained from the Comptroller's office, upon the same pretended claim for money due for said sewer in Thirty-eighth-street, as an assumed bond for two thousand four hundred dollars. In the margin of the book from which said warrant was taken, it appears in the handwriting of said Smith that the pretended sewer was between Second and Third avenues. The only sewer in that locality was completed and paid for as early as one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four—the contractor being J. Lynch—and neither the Bowery Bank nor Charles Devlin had any interest therein, nor had said Bowery Bank or Charles Devlin, either as assignee or otherwise, in October, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, or at any other time, any interest in any contract for a sewer in any part of Thirty-eighth-street, or in any money to be paid thereon.

Reply to Charge Number Three.

The warrant mentioned in this charge was never received by Devlin, nor as assigned to his own. He acted for several years as the agent of the Bowery Bank in finishing and working contracts, making for them collections on the same from the City. His transactions in this particular were frequent and extensive, and his usual custom was to collect and pass the warrants to the bank. The check here referred to was drawn to the order of "Bowery Bank," and by "Enoch Dean, Pres." indorsed, "Pay Charles Devlin or order." With this warrant Mr. Devlin paid a note held by the Bowery Bank against J. B. Smith for the same amount. No portion of this amount ever came into the hands of Charles Devlin.

As for the bond of two thousand four hundred dollars mentioned in the latter part of this charge, Mr. Devlin has no knowledge of the same, (see above.) The charge contains no allegation that Mr. Devlin had ever received the bond or any portion of it.

Fourth Charge.

On October nine, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, a warrant was drawn upon the Chamberlain in the handwriting of the said J. B. Smith, purporting to be for the balance due for work on Seventy-eighth-street, between third and Fifth avenues, for the sum of six hundred and ninety-three dollars and sixty-six cents, in favor of C. C. Ellis; said warrant is indorsed with the words "C. C. Ellis, pay C. Devlin, Assignee," in the handwriting of Charles Devlin. These words are then stricken through with a pen, and the indorsement C. C. Ellis written above them. Below is the indorsement Charles Devlin in his handwriting. This warrant was paid by the Chamberlain.

At the date last mentioned, namely, October nine, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, no contract existed with C. C. Ellis for work on Seventy-eighth-street, between the Third and Fifth avenues, or otherwise. There had been a contract with him for that work, but he had been paid in full on the eighteenth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and fifty seven.

At the same time that the said warrant was issued, an assessment bond was also issued, ostensibly for the same account last aforesaid, for the sum of three thousand three hundred dollars.

No receipt can be found for either the warrant or the bond.

Reply to Charge Number Five.

This warrant was presented by J. B. Smith to Charles Devlin for the purpose of being cashed. Smith represented that he held an assignment from Ellis, and exhibited the same. Ellis indorsed the warrant, and the same was cashed by Devlin. When, in January, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, some five months afterwards, it was discovered that Smith had perpetrated a fraud, Mr. Devlin voluntarily repaid the amount of six hundred and ninety-three dollars and sixty-six cents to relieve Mr. Ellis from his embarrassment in settling his accounts with the City.

The bond of three thousand three hundred dollars, mentioned in this count, never came into the hands of Devlin, or he never received anything to do with it in any respect. Ellis having procured it, the bond was finally canceled by deducting the amount from the account of Ellis when he settled with the City. This charge is evidently malicious.

Sixth Charge.

On October nineteenth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, a warrant was drawn in the handwriting of the said J. B. Smith, purporting to be for amount collected for a sewer in Seventy-eighth-street, for the sum of two thousand one hundred and forty six dollars and sixty-five cents, in favor of the Bowery Bank. The warrant is indorsed with the words "Bowery Bank, Enoch Dean, President," in ink, and in pencil with the letters, "Wm. D. S. & Co." It has been ascertained that Charles Devlin received this warrant and obtained the money upon it. The warrant was afterwards paid by the Chamberlain. There was, in October last, no sewer constructing in Fortieth-street, and no contract therefor, in which the Bowery Bank, as assignee or otherwise, or Charles Devlin, as assignee or otherwise, or in fact in which they or either of them, had any interest, or with which they or either of them, had any connection, and neither the Bowery Bank nor Charles Devlin have any right or claim to said warrant or the money obtained on it, or any part of it.

Reply to Charge Number Six.

There is no direct charge here against Mr. Devlin. Mr. Devlin had no knowledge of this warrant. He did not receive it, had nothing to do with its issue, and maintains that this sixth charge is a fair specimen of the character of the whole batch of charges against him. A warrant is issued by the Comptroller to a bank, and "Wm. D. S. & Co." appear subsequently to have had it, and a reckless attempt is made to fasten the matter upon a party who had nothing to do with obtaining it. Convenient in a political contest, of the flagrant character of that controversy, to avert the odium which should justly fall upon the guilty parties, upon the head of a political adversary.

Mr. Devlin justly inquires of your Committee why he should be allowed to suffer the imputations meant by this charge, when the statement of the facts of this issue contains no allusion whatever to him.

Seventh Charge.

On the eleventh day of November, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, a warrant upon the Chamberlain was drawn in the handwriting of said J. B. Smith, purporting to be for amount collected for construction of sewers on Forty-fourth-street, for the sum of five thousand seven hundred and ninety dollars and ninety-one cents in favor of John Fitzpatrick. It purports to be indorsed by Fitzpatrick, and certified underneath the indorsement of Fitzpatrick's name "Correct—Charles Devlin," in his handwriting. This warrant was deposited by Devlin to his credit in the Broadway Bank, on the fourteenth day of November, and was paid by the Chamberlain.

An inspection of the books and documents in the Comptroller's and Street Commissioner's office shows that the original contracts for sewers on Forty-fourth-street were entered into with other persons than John Fitzpatrick, and were paid as early as one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six. Neither Fitzpatrick nor Devlin had anything to do with the construction of those sewers.

The son of Devlin testified before Recorder Barnard on the fourth day of March, that the indorsement of Fitzpatrick's name on that warrant was in the handwriting of his father.

Reply to Charge Number Seven.

As to this item, five thousand seven hundred and ninety dollars and ninety-one cents, Mr. Devlin has, in a lengthy suit, the details of which have been laid before the public, vindicated himself from the charge contained in this count. The Committee deem it unnecessary to go again over these matters which have been made the subject of legal investigation, and have been finally decided favorably to Mr. Devlin.

Eighth Charge.

On the nineteenth day of October, One thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, the said John Brannigan presented at the Comptroller's office a note from Enoch Dean authorizing him to receive certain assessment bonds for the Bowery Bank; and on that day there were delivered to him, in accordance with said authority, seven assessment bonds to the Bowery Bank, for the sum in the aggregate of twenty-three thousand nine hundred dollars. These bonds all bore date October seventeen. One thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven. It is ascertained that these bonds, to the amount of fifteen thousand nine hundred dollars, were received by Charles Devlin, and two of them, to the amount of two thousand nine hundred dollars, have been presented to the Comptroller's office, assigned by Devlin, under date of October seventeen. One thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, and bearing a subsequent assignment, signed by said Devlin in his handwriting.

An examination of the books in the office of the Comptroller discloses an entry in the handwriting of the said J. B. Smith, that the said twelve thousand seven hundred dollars of these bonds is charged to a contract for the construction of a sewer in Forty-seventh-street, made with Hugh McCabe.

This leaves eleven thousand two hundred dollars of said bonds unaccounted for, and there is no account in the Comptroller's office to which they are properly chargeable; and if it shall appear that the said twelve thousand seven hundred dollars is not chargeable to said contract with Hugh McCabe, then the whole amount of the said bonds, (twenty-three thousand nine hundred dollars,) is unaccounted for, and there is no account in the Comptroller's office to which said bonds are properly chargeable.

Mr. Devlin undoubtedly knew, or had reason to believe, that these bonds, or some of them, were unauthorised, were given for money not due, and were a fraud on the City.

Reply to Charge Number Eight.

In reply to this charge, Mr. Devlin knows nothing about the money transactions of the Bowery Bank and the Finance Department. When the Comptroller issued these warrants and bonds, no one had any reason to cause to doubt their genuineness. They were genuine, signed by the proper officers of the Corporation, and openly issued. Mr. Devlin did not receive them from the City; they were paid to him. A part of the amount received by him was an investment made for and in behalf of a private estate, and others paid to him in liquidation of claims. He received them from parties who held them, the same as any person would receive a Government or City bond in Wall-street.

Of the twenty-three thousand nine hundred dollars of these bonds, thirteen thousand dollars' worth were bought by Charles Devlin for John O'Toole for his own use. Mr. O'Toole, being confined to his house by sickness, Mr. Devlin acted as his agent in carrying out a contract to purchase, which O'Toole had made with J. B. Smith. The balance of the bonds were paid to the bank on account of J. B. Smith's indebtedness. The bonds alluded to above have recently been adjudicated upon before Judge Daly, acting Surrogate, and have been declared to be valid bonds, and as forming part of the estate of O'Toole.

Ninth Charge.

On the thirtieth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, an assessment was confirmed by the Common Council for paving Forty-ninth-street, from the Sixth to the Eighth avenue, and laying a cross-walk on the westerly side of the Sixth-avenue, for which work C. Sharp was contractor, but who has assigned his contract to the said John Fitzpatrick. The total amount of said contract was two thousand eight hundred and twenty-three dollars and ten cents. Said assessment and the amount thereof was entered in the ledger of assessment contracts in the Comptroller's office. Subsequently, the amount was fraudulently altered by placing before the figures two thousand eight hundred and twenty-three dollars and ten cents, the figure one, so as make the total amount twelve thousand eight hundred and twenty-three dollars and ten cents, instead of two thousand eight hundred and twenty-three dollars and ten cents. Afterwards, on the twenty-third or twenty-fourth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, said Smith presented a statement to the Comptroller, showing the amount due on said contract to be twelve thousand eight hundred and twenty-three dollars and ten cents as aforesaid, and there were thereupon issued to said John Fitzpatrick therefor, three assessment bonds, two for five thousand dollars each, and one for two thousand eight hundred dollars, and a check given him for the balance of twenty-three dollars and ten cents. One of said bonds for five thousand dollars was assigned by said Fitzpatrick to said Devlin, and was afterwards assigned by said Devlin, under his own hand, to Hawley & Bradford, and was by them again assigned to one Jacob thereby simply rendering a tardy act of justice to one who has so faithfully, and at such fearful cost to himself, now only performed all the duties incumbent upon a good citizen and a faithful public officer, but who has preserved to the City authorities an invaluable prerogative, which was insidiously attempted to be taken from them.

They accordingly respectfully offer for your adoption the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Comptroller be and he is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant in favor of Charles Devlin for the sum of one hundred and thirty-five thousand nine hundred and ninety-one dollars and sixty cents, to be in full for all claims of the said Charles Devlin against the City, as follows: Balances due on work performed at different times, for the City, anterior to his appointment as Street Commissioner, one hundred and eight thousand one hundred and thirteen hundred dollars and forty-three cents; for repayment of moneys advanced for the City in conducting the affairs of the Street Department, during his incumbency of the office, sixteen thousand two hundred and twenty dollars and seventeen cents, and for reimbursing him for moneys expended in defending the rights of the City authorities to the appointment of the head of the Street Department, eleven thousand six hundred and fifty-eight dollars.

JOHN D. OTTIWELL,
PETER MITCHELL,
Special Committee.

City and County of New-York, ss.

George Peckham, being duly sworn, deposes and says, that he has read the foregoing report of the Committee on the "Administration of the Street Department during the pendency of the controversy for the control of the office by Messrs. Devlin and Conover," and that the statements therein contained, relative to the accounts of Charles Devlin, therein mentioned, the amounts claimed and charged and claimed by said Devlin against the City of New-York, together with the respective amounts paid by the City of New-York on the said accounts, and the balances therein stated to be due from the City of New-York on the respective accounts, are true and correct transcripts contained in the books and records of the "Finance Department." That this Department, for and on behalf of the aforementioned Committee, did examine the books in the Comptroller's office, and faithfully transcribed therefrom the detail of the various amounts stated in said report, and which were audited by the "Finance Department," and passed to the credit of the various works named, and as the amounts acknowledged by the City to be due to the contractor. That the statements furnished by the deponent have been taken from surveys and returns made by various surveyors, accepted and examined by the auditor of the Finance Department, and finally passed to the credit of the account on the ledger kept in said department. And the deponent further says that the account hereunto annexed is a just and true account of items shown by the books and records of the "Finance Department."

Dated NEW-YORK, June 23, 1863.

Commissioner of Deeds.

LAW REPORTS.

The Newspaper Mandamus against the Comptroller.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Sutherland, Leonard and Clerke.

The People, ex rel. George Opdyke, Mayor of the City of New-York, respondent, vs. Matthew T. Brennan, Comptroller of the City of New-York, appellant.—This is an appeal from an order of Mr. Justice WELLS, made herein, directing a peremptory mandamus to issue commanding the respondent to unite with the relator in designating, from newspapers published in the City of New-York, having the largest daily circulation, namely, the NEW-YORK TIMES, the Herald, the Sun and the Tribune, in which to publish the advertisements, in pursuance of section two of the act of the Legislature, chap. 227, passed April 27, 1863.

The second section of the act of April 24, 1863, requires, among other things, in order to justify expending any moneys to expense incurred for municipal advertising in the City and County of New-York, they shall appear in "four papers having the largest daily circulation," to be designated by the Mayor and Comptroller.

The Mayor wishes to name the TIMES, Herald, Sun, and Tribune, as such four papers taking their aggregate of circulation without reference to the localities in which they are circulated.

The Comptroller insists that the four papers selected, should be those which have the largest circulation within the City and County of New-York.

The Mayor applies for a mandamus to compel the Comptroller to concur with him.

We say it should not be awarded, for the following reasons:

The act imposes on the Mayor and Comptroller a duty not on y administrative, but also judicial in its nature. What are the four papers having the requisite circulation is a question of fact, to be determined on evidence.

A mandamus will not lie to control the action of any officer or tribunal on a question of fact.

That the Comptroller is right in his construction of the statute in question. It is a law affecting on y the City of New-York, passed in reference to its appropriation and disbursement of municipal funds for exclusively municipal purposes, and affecting only officers of this municipality.

That it is clear that the object of publication is to inform the people of the City what their representatives or agents are doing, and the best mode of effecting this result is to make the publication as extensive as possible among the people of the locality.

Such statutes are always to be construed in reference to the necessity which elicited them and the policy which they were designed to promote. That if this law was construed verbally, and not according to its spirit, rather than terms, the four papers to be designated might be selected from another county or even another State. We are therefore to look at the design of the Legislature, and discover what they meant.

That if such a law had been passed for the City of Buffalo it would, according to the Mayor's views, be satisfied by selecting a newspaper, the largest circulation of which was in the City of New-York.

It was urged contra, on behalf of the Mayor: That the words used in the present law, "the largest daily circulation," are clear, unambiguous, and would be understood in the same sense by almost every person. The circulation of a newspaper is the use made of it; the extent of its circulation is the extent of its use, and that is determined solely by the number of copies issued and sold. To interpolate other words after the words "largest daily circulation" would be to do what the lawgiver has not done.

In other laws relating to advertisements in newspapers depending upon their circulation, when a qualification is intended to be expressed, the following are a few instances: "In all cases where proposals for any contract or contracts to be made by any of the Executive Department or bureaus, and in all cases where notices of any description issuing from the same, and now required by law to be advertised, the same shall be advertised by publication in the two newspapers in the City of Washington that may have the largest permanent description, and, at the discretion of the Executive, in any third paper that may be published in said city."—Act of March 3, 1845, United States Statutes.

Again, by the act of March 3, 1851, United States Statutes, "Lists of letters remaining uncalled for in any Post-office in any city, town or village, where a newspaper shall be printed, shall hereafter be published once only in the newspaper, which, being issued weekly or oftener, shall have the largest circulation within the range of delivery of said office," to be decided by the Postmaster of such office," &c. That it would be difficult, even if it were possible to ascertain the extent of circulation in the city as distinguished from the general circulation. Newspapers are sold at the counters to the newsboys, and where they send them is not to be ascertained without great difficulty. Some of the purchasers send their purchases into the country; some into the streets of the city; some for circulation among subscribers in the different Wards. None of the papers having the largest circulation depend upon their subscription lists.

That a mandamus is the proper remedy, that there is, indeed, no other, it does not purport to control the Comptroller in the exercise of his judgment, but to compel him to act, and to give him the rule by which he is to act.

The Court reserved its decison. James T Brady for the Comptroller; D. D. Field, for the Mayor.

The New Court-house Mandamus.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Sutherland, Leonard and Clerke.

The People ex rel. Cumings H. Tucker vs. George Opdyke, Mayor of New-York.—Before the argument of this case commenced Mr. Hackett, Assistant Corporation Counsel, arose and said that he objected to the appearance of Mr. D. D. Field in this case as he had not been retained in the case, and claimed that the Corporation Counsel was the only authorized person to appear in behalf of the defendant. That the Corporation Counsel was the only constitutional adviser before the Court of the Mayor and Commonalty of the City as well as of the Supervisors.

Mr. Field replied that he claimed to represent the rights of the Mayor under peculiar circumstances; that in this matter, which was a dispute between the Supervisors and the Mayor, the Corporation Counsel was in collusion with the Board of Supervisors, and was acting in every respect as their peculiar counsel. Surely the Court would not allow justice to be administered before them in such a manner—one counsel appearing for both parties. Mr. Devlin, as counsel for the Supervisors, under such circumstances, would be entitled to appear at discuss the matter as to the Mayor or take his default, and the consequence would be that judgment for costs would be entered against the Mayor. As a matter of exact justice, Mr. Field claimed to represent the Mayor in this matter and to protect his interests.

The Court allowed the case to proceed. The following is a statement of the facts:

The Court, at a Special Term, has ordered a peremptory mandamus in the first instance, directing the defendant to countersign a warrant, drawn on the Broadway Bank by the Comptroller, in favor of James Watson, for $850 57, upon the ground that the amount was due to workmen employed upon the new Court-house by the Board of Supervisors, and that they had assigned their claim to the relator. The motion papers purport to show that the workmen were employed on the building by the Supervisors, without the sanction of the Building Commission; that the Supervisors passed a resolution to pay them, but it is claimed they do not show that the defendant was ever informed that the claims had been assigned to the relator.

It is claimed, on the part of the Mayor, that a peremptory mandamus in the first instance was improper.

The defendant has a right to claim, and he does claim that the questions upon this application, some of which are questions of fact, should be determined upon an alternative mandamus, if the Court should think that a prima facie case has been made for the application.

The Court reserved its decision. For plaintiff, John H. Hackett, Corporation Counsel, Ex-Judge Woodruff and Mr. Choate; for the Mayor, D. D. Field.

The New Salesroom in the City of New-York.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Sutherland, Leonard, and Clerke.

In the Matter of the Sales of Real Estate.—Some time since, F. A. Fowler, the lessee of the basement of Trinity Buildings, No. 111 Broadway, presented a petition that the regular rule of the Court be amended, so as to read "Exchange salesroom." This latter designation was claimed by Mr. Adee, the lessee of No. 103 Liberty-street—the lessee of the new salesroom. The matter in dispute between the parties having been referred to Messrs. Marbury, Wetmore and De Forest, and a report having been made, the Court now confirms the report, which is, that the public sales of real estate be continued at No. 111 Broadway, (Trinity Buildings,) as being the most central location, and that the rules be changed so as to call the room the "Exchange salesroom," and not to have two places with one and the same name.

Wills Admitted.

SURROGATE'S COURT.

Before G. J. Tucker, Surrogate.

The following Wills were duly admitted to probate, viz.: The Will of John Watson, M. D., Moncke Stevens, Margaret E. Folsom, William Ripley and Philo V. Anderson. None of these Wills contain anything of public importance except the Will of Dr. Watson, who donates to the Society of the New-York Hospital all his private books relating to the history of medicine and all such as elucidate the condition of medical science, in trust for the Library of said hospital.

In Re Accounting of Administrators of Richard Morrell, deceased.—Examination of accounts on exceptions to same filed on behalf of widow and next of kin and testimony taken before the Chief Clerk by consent of parties.

Loder and Pomeroy, Proctors, counsel for administrator; McDowell, Lamberson and Onderdonk, for widow and next of kin.

In Re Will of Edwin P. Christy.—Adjourned to 9th of July instant for the purpose of completing the cross-examination of witness.

Decisions.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Sutherland.

Bell vs. Kilpatrick et als.—Motion denied.

Drury vs. Russell.—Order not granted.

Roome vs. Roome.—Order granted.

Fanny Steinhard vs. Morris Steinhard.—Report confirmed, and judgment of divorce granted.

FRIDAY, July 3—P. M.

There was only one session of the Stock Exchange to-day, owing to the approach of the National Holiday. The Board adjourned over until Monday morning. Money lenders freely accepted 6@7 ₱ cent., to-day, and the Brokers made up their Bank accounts early, and with much care. The price of Gold Coin was steady at the early Board at 144 ₱ cent., but subsequently fell off on the Street to 143½ ₱ cent., on favorable Army rumors from Richmond and Vicksburgh. The greatest interest was felt in regard to the progress of the battles in Pennsylvania. The news came slowly over the wires, but the prevailing belief appeared to be that the second engagement at Gettysburgh, on Thursday, had resulted favorably for Gen. MEADE. Exchange for Saturday's steamers closed 158 ₱ cent., dull.

The market for Stocks was stronger than on Thursday. The Government 6 ₱ cents and Treasury paper were firm and in demand, and there was a further rise of 2 ₱ cent. on Missouri 6 ₱ cents., on the Emancipation ordinance of the State Convention. The Railway Shares rose 2 ₱ cent. on Hudson River, and 2@2½ ₱ cent. on Michigan Southern. For the last the demand, within a few days, is large, and speculative confidence apparently strong in a rapid advance to 85@90 ₱ cent. The other Western Stocks and Reading were also firm, and the New-York Roads steady, and the closing bids a fraction higher than yesterday.

At 3 o'clock on the Street the following prices were made in comparison with Thursday afternoon:

Stock on hand of Ox and Cow Hides is 429,000; (same time last year, 316,000; year before, 481,600;) and 7,000 bales.

LEATHER—The week's business Messrs. HULL & Co. notice thus: "For Hemlock Sole the market continues moderately active, though, as is usually the case at this season, there is a slight falling off in the demand. Prices have ruled steady throughout the week, and at the close are firm at our annexed quotations, which for some descriptions are slightly in advance of those of last week. Prices of all kinds is scarce, as is prime oven-weight, and sought after, the latter commanding relatively higher rates than other descriptions. The receipts of fresh Leather continue only moderate, and the stock of all kinds are very light, with no prospect of any accumulation for some time to come. For Oak Sole the market is active at firm prices, with a light supply on hand. Upper in the Rough is scarce and wanted, at full rates."

PROVISIONS—Pork has been in active request at rising prices. Sales have been made of 4,500 bbls., in lots, at $11 75@$11 87½ for Old Mess; $13 50@$13 75 for new Mess; $10 50@$11 37½ for old and new Prime, ₱ bbl. Butter is in limited demand at 15c.@19c. for poor to choice Western, and 17c.@22c. for common to choice State ₱ lb. Cheese is in slack request, at 9c.@13c. ₱ lb.

RICE—Has been inactive and nominal. Stock, as reported by Messrs. EUGENE O'SULLIVAN & Co., 11 606 bags Cleaned East India, against 580 casks Carolina, 200 casks Para, 22,942 bags Cleaned East India, and 25,200 bags and mats Uncleaned do., same time last year.

SEEDS—The movements in Seeds, during the past ten days, Mr. A. CAMERON reviews thus: "My last was dated the 23d June, since which we have had a good inquiry for Seeds, but the arrivals being light, and the small stock now remaining on hand being held above the views of buyers, but few transactions can be reported.

Exports of Clover Seed from New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Boston, from 1st of September, 1862, up to 1st July, 1863: To Great Britain, 110,965 bags, or 6,936 tons; to the Continent, 45,509 bags, or 2,845 tons.

THIS DAY'S MARKET.

Clover Seed—A good inquiry from exporters for prime quality, but their limits are too low to admit of their paying prices asked. I quote from 8¾c. @9¾c.

Timothy—Holders still firm in their demands, and no sales reported. I quote $1 75@$2 25.

Flax—Demand good, at a slight advance, with small sales, at from $2 40@$2 65.

SKINS—In Goat there has been rather more doing, and the stock of prime heavy Mexican has become much reduced. Of light stock the supply has been much increased during the week by the arrival of a large cargo each from Curacoa and Vera Cruz, but importers manifest no disposition to give way in prices, a result commonly looked for by the bulk of manufacturers, who buy very sparingly at present rates. We note sales of 323 bales Tampico, 240@270 lbs. average, on private terms; 50 bales Curacoa at 55c., less discount, and 2,000 Payta on terms not made public. Deer Skins continue to be sought after, but the light supply of most descript ons and high prices demanded for others retard operations.

SUGARS—Sales to-day, privately and by auction, 520 hhds., including New-Orleans, 9¾c.@11⅞c.; Porto Rico, at 12c., and Cuba, at 10¾c.@12c. ₱ lb. Market depressed.

TALLOW—Sales, 185,000 lbs. at 11c.@11¾c. ₱ lb.

TOBACCO—Sales, since our last, 83 hhds. Kentucky, at 11c.@28; 261 cases Seed Leaf, at 13c.@25c; with 85 bales Yara and 51 bales Cuba, on private terms, ₱ lbs.

WHISKY—Sales, 550 bbls., at 45¾c.@46c. ₱ gallon.

FREIGHTS—Have been less active. For Liverpool, the engagements included 250 bbls. Flour, at 1s. 7½d.@1s. 9d. ₱ bbl., and 25,000 bushels Grain, at 7d. ₱ bushel. For London, 5,000 bbls. Flour 2s. 4½d. ₱ bbl.; 13,000 bushels Corn, in bulk, at 7½d. ₱ bushel. For Glasgow, 16,000 bushels Corn at 7¾d. ₱ bushel; 200 tierces Lard at 35s. ₱ ton. For Donegal, 13,000 bushels Grain at 7s. 9d. ₱ quarter. For Amsterdam, 500 bbls. Flour at 3s. ₱ bbl.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Our special telegrams this morning give a clear understanding of the momentous events which have taken place at Gettysburgh, Penn., within the past three days. The reports which have previously reached us have been incorrect in essential particulars—especially in regard to the battle of Wednesday. On that day the action was brought on by Gen. REYNOLDS, simply because he thought himself in superior force to that of the enemy. The action was not general, and was not intended to be so by Gen. MEADE. Our forces engaged on that day were repulsed, because overpowered and outflanked, but they subsequently fell back to a position which they held, in the rear of Gettysburgh. On Thursday there was no fighting until 4½ o'clock P. M. At that hour a bloody engagement was commenced, lasting until dark, and resulting in a substantial success to our arms—the enemy being repulsed with great loss. The battle was commenced by the enemy with terrific force. Their entire army was engaged, and suffered a signal reverse. Yesterday the third day's battle commenced, at 4 o'clock in the morning, the field of contest being on the south side of Gettysburgh, and the musketry fighting being wholly within the woods, while the artillery was posted on eminences, from which the timber had been cut. The attack on this day, as on the day previous, was commenced by the rebels, our right being the main point aimed at. There the fight was unceasing, until the date of our last dispatches from the battle-field—10 o'clock A. M. LONGSTREET'S and HILL'S corps were said to be engaged there, while EWELL was on the front. The enemy, as well as ourselves, had suffered heavily in prominent officers. Gen. BARKSDALE, of Mississippi, had been killed, and his body was within our lines. Prisoners on Thursday reported the death of Gen. LONGSTREET, and prisoners captured yesterday confirmed the report. Sixteen hundred prisoners had up to 10 o'clock been sent to the rear, and more were arriving. The result of the day's battle could not then be predicted, but the determination of our officers and men was to win. Gen. MEADE was managing his forces with admirable skill and prudence, and the troops were in the best of spirits. Important dispatches from JEFF. DAVIS and the rebel Adjt.-Gen. COOPER had been captured by our scouts, which indicate anxiety for the position of Richmond, and refused to send LEE reinforcements from BEAUREGARD.

The official dispatches from Gen. MEADE to the War Department are brief but confident. They fully confirm the statements contained in our special dispatches. He says the battle of Thursday afternoon was one of the severest contests of the war, and that the enemy was repulsed at all points. Gens. SICKLES, BARLOW, GRAHAM, and WARREN were slightly wounded. Gen. ZOOK was killed. Regarding the battle yesterday, he says all accounts agree in placing the whole rebel force in the engagement, and that no impression had been made upon his position at the date of his dispatch.

The advices from Harrisburgh this morning are of no importance. The rebels have all left that vicinity.

Maj.-Gen. SIGEL, who reported himself for any duty which might be assigned to him at this critical moment, has been directed by the Secretary of War to report at Harrisburgh, to aid Gen. COUCH in the defence of Pennsylvania.

A courier from Gen. MEADE to Gen. COUCH, on Thursday stopped at a house beyond York to have his horse fed, and, being mistaken for a rebel, was shot by the owner of the house. His dispatches were subsequently sent by mistake to Baltimore, instead of to Harrisburgh.

Rumors reached Baltimore from Fortress Monroe on Thursday, that Richmond had been closely invested by Gen. DIX, and probably captured. Apropos, we find the following in the Washington Intelligencer of yesterday: "We learn that the expedition under Gen. DIX up York River, &c., destined against Richmond, which the Northern papers announced with such questionable haste nearly a week ago, had on Tuesday last reached a point up the Pamunkey, and had made a reconnoissance within six miles of Richmond, and ascertained pretty nearly the strength of the enemy. We deem it not improper to give this general and brief statement to our readers, and only regret that an expedition so important, and to which secrecy was so essential, was injudiciously blurted out to the world almost before it had moved. Suffolk, we learn, has been abandoned, the fortifications leveled and the town destroyed."

The statement was telegraphed to this City yesterday from Philadelphia that a dispatch had been received there from Washington announcing that Vicksburgh had been captured. During the evening, however, it was ascertained that the story was false. The Government yesterday received dispatches from Gen. GRANT to the 27th, stating that the siege was progressing finely. Another attack was expected from JOHNSTON during this week, but in the meantime Vicksburgh was expected to surrender.

The steamship Morning Star, from New-Orleans on the 27th ult., arrived at this port last evening. She brought $170,000 in specie, and a full freight of cotton, sugar and other produce, but no late news from Port Hudson.

GENERAL NEWS.

On Wednesday morning the Erie Railroad machine shops in Paterson took fire, and the larger part of them were destroyed. The entire stock of tools, with a large number of patterns and two fine locomotives, were destroyed. The entire loss is stated by the Paterson Guardian at $75,000. One hundred men are thrown out of employment.

Breadstuffs were in fair demand, yesterday, but at irregular prices. Provisions were more sought after; Mess Pork was dearer. Cotton was dull, lower, and quite unsettled. Groceries were inactive. Ingot Copper was in more request. Whisky was salable and steady. An active inquiry prevailed for Domestic Cotton and Woolen Goods early in the week at decidedly firmer prices, especially for the former, but the market closed rather tamely. Choice styles of imported Dress Goods attracted more attention at buoyant rates. Freights were less active. Other branches of trade presented no really new feature.

The Campaign in Pennsylvania.

Gen. MEADE'S campaign against the rebel army in Pennsylvania has been suddenly and unexpectedly initiated by an action of gigantic magnitude, which has already extended over three days, and in which the entire force of Gen. LEE and the entire Army of the Potomac seem to be engaged. The battle which opened with two corps on Wednesday morning, and lasted till well on in the afternoon—which was reopened late on Thursday afternoon, and continued until dark, by the armies in full force—which was resumed yesterday morning at early daylight—does not appear at our latest advices, to have yet reached a definite or decisive result. At one time, as on the first day's battle, the rebels seem to have gained a temporary advantage—at the terrible battle of Thursday our gallant army, in the words of Gen. MEADE, "repulsed the enemy at all points,"—and at the engagement of yesterday, the rebels, after six hours' fighting, had failed to make any impression upon our position. Of the final point reached in the evening, we have not yet been advised, but the general import of the dispatches are certainly favorable to our arms.

The Army of the Potomac seems to be fighting with the greatest vigor, determination and dash. The rebel army, too, is fighting with desperation. It is now really a desperate matter with them, far away as they are from their base, from their homes, and sure, if they once break, to be pursued by our army, by tens of thousands of militia, by our reserve and by our splendid cavalry force.

Bragg's Retreat from Tullahoma.

The intelligent readers of the elaborate expositions we have been enabled to give, in the TIMES correspondence from Gen. ROSECRANS' headquarters, of the military situation in Middle Tennessee, remember that no very valuable results were predicted from the advance that Gen. ROSECRANS has just made. Gen. ROSECRANS himself doubted the policy of an advance, and for causes that his march so far appears to have verified.

Our army has reached Tullahoma—the point to which BRAGG'S army fell back after the battle of Stones River—and Gen. BRAGG is found to have again retreated. This is precisely what Gen. ROSECRANS feared; and because of which fear he did not see the military propriety of advancing. BRAGG has abandoned Shelbyville, abandoned Tullahoma and the line of Duck River, and fallen back, it is supposed, upon Chattanooga and the line of the Tennessee River. Our correspondent with Gen. ROSECRANS, anticipating the occupation by the Union army of the enemy's Duck River line, in a letter written June the 8th, asked:

"What is Shelbyville? What is Tullahoma? What the line of the Duck River? Nothing—absolutely nothing! They are neither points of manœuvre, nor geographical objective points. The rebels are not brought a step nearer destruction than before. They retire to a new and stronger line along the Tennessee River in the vicinity of Chattanooga, and we have the barren victory of thirty additional miles added to our already too deep line. If anything, we are worse off than before."

In a subsequent letter, written June 24th, our correspondent stated that the "sound heads" of Gen. ROSECRANS' army had little hope of getting a decisive engagement out of Gen. BRAGG, at Tullahoma, or on the line of the Duck River, though an advance upon that position was about to be made. It was thought that BRAGG would fall back to induce ROSECRANS to extend his lines by pursuit, and then would assume the offensive by attacking the communications of Gen. ROSECRANS, with the hope of driving the latter back even to Nashville. But there was no danger of our capable and cautious commander falling into any such trap; and it was clearly advised in our correspondent's second letter that if BRAGG did fall back from Tullahoma, the country "should not indulge in expectations of much in the way of pursuit." The plain reason was, Gen. ROSECRANS did not have army enough to guard his extended lines of communication, and also attack Chattanooga, which is naturally one of the strongest points of the Confederacy.

Of course, at this distance we cannot predict what new developments the actual progress of the campaign will make—whether ROSECRANS will be induced to proceed in, or withdraw from a campaign that did not at the start promise him any definite results. But judging from what our correspondent has communicated, the probability would seem to be that Gen. ROSECRANS will now hold the line of Duck River till the grain crops of Middle Tennessee are garnered and marketed, so as to deprive BRAGG of their use, and then he will adopt such a plan of action as the exigencies of the case may demand.

OUR NEW ALLIES.—It appears that a number of Northern newspapers, declared contraband in Kansas and the Indian Territory, were seized, and burned in the streets of Leavenworth, a few days ago, and that a kind of "war dance" was performed by enthusiastic patriots around the bonfire. It is not so stated, but we have scarcely a doubt that this "war dance" was contributed by a detachment of the 10,000 "warlike Indians" that Mr. Commissioner DOLE has just proposed to enlist as soldiers. The belt of scalps dangling about the waist of each naked Indian in this "war dance" must have proved not only a picturesque spectacle, but a salutary warning to every Copperhead and leatherhead present; for it should be remembered that, excepting the scalps of the few hundred white persons lately massacred in Minnesota, Mr. DOLE'S loyal but very troublesome 10,000 Indians, soon to be enlisted in the military service, have taken all their tufted trophies from their copperheaded confreres of the Far West! These aboriginal patriots never spare their kind.

We would feel some alarm at the presence of these wild Indians on the "war path" in Kansas, but for the conviction that Mr. DOLE, while recently "distributing among them five hundred thousand dollars to keep them peaceable," administered to each the oath of allegiance. Will the Tribune's Washington correspondent tell us if this is not so?

Waste of Life in our Armies—Duty of the Government.

We have before us a letter addressed to the President by the Sanitary Commission in August, 1862, calling his attention to the fact that the health of the army was very much lowered, owing to the fact that regiments in the field, though greatly reduced in numbers, were constantly charged with the same duties as if their ranks were full; "and in consequence of this, and often solely in consequence of this, men and officers had become harassed, feverish, exhausted of strength, depressed and despondent, and had communicated their feelings to their friends at home, and finally to the whole community." The loss of life from other causes than injuries received in battle, during the operations before Richmond, was very great, and made a profound impression on the public mind, and undoubtedly was the immediate cause of the indisposition to volunteer which from that time forward began to manifest itself. Thousands who were ready enough to run the risk of the enemy's bullets, shrunk from the prospect of exhaustion by fatigue and privation, and the ordinary consequences of fever and permanent debility. The Commission likewise dwelt upon the fact, and their warning is just as appropriate now as it was then:

"That the force of our armies engaged in active operations has always in the end proved to be insufficient for the work imposed upon them; that regiments when depleted by battle and disease have remained long in their weak condition, and yet have been required to perform guard and fatigue duties, which they would have found severe when in their full strength."

In other words, the practice of the Government has been to raise armies sufficient, when they were raised, for the service required of them, and then to go on as if the numbers were sure to undergo no diminution; as if they would be found at the close of a campaign in precisely the same force as at the beginning. The country, it must be added, has always acquiesced very quietly in this singular way of looking at the matter, and each State, after sending its quota of volunteers to the field, has gone about its business as carelessly and joyously as if there were no such things known in war as casualties or disease, and as if an army once an army would always remain an army. Nothing has been done by the Government to provide either reserves or regular reinforcements, though engaged in one of the bloodiest and most gigantic wars on record, an oversight which we believe has no parallel in military history.

From the statistics collected by the Sanitary Commission it appears that in spite of the high average health of our men, as compared with that of European armies, to keep a force of 500,000 men up to its full strength in the field—for, of course, if we were to believe the books in the War Department, it would number 500,000 for ten years without receiving a single recruit—it must receive a reinforcement of 128,000 men every year. In other words, without any ordinary reverses or disasters, without cholera, or crushing defeats, half a million of the healthiest troops in the world, engaged in active operations, will, if not recruited, in two years dwindle down to half that number, and in four years will totally disappear from the field.

To meet this deficiency and keep the national army up to its proper strength, the economical, humane, scientific, and Christian plan, and the plan pursued by all military Powers in the world, is to keep constantly on foot at home large depots or reserves of recruits, under training for active service, becoming inured to exposure and to long marches, familiarized to the duties of camp life, and with the best means of preserving their health and securing their comfort. The wasteful, inhuman, barbarous and unchristian plan is that which we have pursued, of letting the army sink to half its strength, letting the survivors become debilitated by overwork and overwatching; letting them become demoralized by frequent encounters with superior forces of the enemy, and then, at the last moment, calling out thousands of young men raw from the counting-house and the plow, and hurrying them to the field, to be either massacred by a trained enemy, or else to sink under fatigues which, to a soldier of even six months' experience, would be but pleasant exercise. The Sanitary Commission solemnly urged this matter on the attention of the Government a year ago. The Press has reechoed its warning ever since, and yet we are at this moment witnessing the consequences of total indifference on the part of the authorities, to the whole matter.

The Government is not, however, wholly to blame. In a free country, its initiatory power, as well as its persistence, are of necessity small, unless supported by the public. And we now earnestly beg of the citizens of every State at the North to economize human life—we will say nothing of incurring any more cost in the war—by keeping on foot at home a force which, by its familiarity with drill, discipline and camp life, will furnish recruits, and not victims, at such a crisis as that which is now upon us. Everything [illegible]

[illegible]

New-York State has a black population of 50,000, and it is proposed now to extend the movement to this State. A few companies have already gone from here to enlist in the Massachusetts negro regiments; but this State itself ought to make at least two regiments. The negro's ability to fight has now been proven in the field, and he [illegible] no contemptible aid in suppressing the [illegible], and in keeping it suppressed.

of active service, whether as home guards or militia men, is tantamount to the creation of a reserve, and this the various States can readily furnish, in default of something better organized and more efficient. It is ridiculous, as well as disgraceful, that the whole North cannot have even 100,000 men in camp ready for contingencies, and should, when the enemy passes the frontier, have to suffer clergymen to talk of throwing up earthworks, and permit old men to defend them, as at Harrisburgh, with flint locks!

"Odious Tyranny" and Eye-Opening.

The Confederate Major-Gen. EARLY, in his address to the citizens of York, tells them that he trusts "the treatment you have met with at the hands of my soldiers will open your eyes to the odious tyranny under which, it is apparent to all, you are groaning." It is not often that a stranger so quickly learns the patois of a country, and we can account for this rapid mastery of the Copperhead dialect only by remembering that this Confederate General was himself born in these parts. This groaning under an odious tyranny is idiomatic to the most delicate turn. Put Gen. EARLY by the side of the "Burgess of York"—himself an editor, and, of course, a purist—and we will wager that there is not a philologist in the University who could tell by their talk which was the rebel and which the Copperhead.

The General certainly has a genius for language. We wonder if he has not a good deal of humor too. It looks like it, when he declares that his treatment must open the eyes of the people of York. If a hundred and fifty thousand dollars in greenbacks, and forty thousand pounds of fresh beef, are not a pretty good eye-opener, we hardly know what could be called such. It came somewhat from "over the left" to be sure, but if one is stone blind and has to "groan under an odious tyranny" to boot, one need not be very particular about the direction of the deliverance, or the means used. A hundred and fifty thousand dollars in legal tender, and forty thousand pounds of fresh beef, with a few beggarly groceries thrown in, are "consumedly cheap," considering the service rendered.

The Military Rights of Colored Troops.

There has been much ostentatious and wholly unnecessary pressure brought to bear recently on the Administration, to induce a declaration of its policy as to the military rights of black soldiers, and the officers who may command them. The fact that the Confederate Congress had passed a law denouncing death to white officers found in command of colored troops, seemed to require, in the opinion of some, a public and high-sounding declaration that our own Government would demand equal military rights for all its soldiers, and retaliate for any such outrages as the Confederates proposed.

Very little reflection should have satisfied any one, even the Confederates themselves, that no such policy as they indicated would be submitted to by the United States Government. The fact that any respectable Government has mustered into its service any class of troops whatever, be they Indians, Turks, Arabs, or Negroes, must be sufficient guaranty to the world, that all the rights of war will be demanded, and must be accorded to such troops. It is no surprise therefore to learn, as we have done from Fortress Monroe, that Col. LUDLOW, agent of the United States Government in the exchange of prisoners, has notified the Confederate authorities that his Government will "throw its protection around all its officers and men without regard to color, and will promptly retaliate for all violations of the cartel and the laws and usuages of war." The Confederates, who have led the way in the employment of Negroes, half-breeds and Indians, in their military service, will not be likely to inaugurate a system of warfare proposed by their Congress, which can be made to tell so fearfully against them.

OUR VOLUNTEER MILITIA.—The militia troops which Pennsylvania, New-York and New Jersey sent forward to the new military line on the Susquehanna, have as yet had no part in the great operations of the campaign. They are mainly stationed near Harrisburgh, with their faces turned southward, and may be said to be waiting to "see what turns up." They have had one or two skirmishes with small bodies of rebels, in which they are said to have acquitted themselves creditably. Their services against the main rebel army may at any moment be called into requisition, and may bear an important part in the decision of the campaign. Their term of service is very short, and we trust they may have an opportunity to win real distinction before returning to their homes and their business.

Negro Soldiers from the Free States.

An article in our advertising columns this morning, gives some idea of the vigorous movement that is being made in Pennsylvania to obtain the services of able-bodied free men of color for the army. This movement has nothing whatever to do with the present invasion of Pennsylvania, as Copperhead journals tauntingly assert. It was begun before such a thing as invasion was dreamed of; but the invasion does not put a stop to it; it rather aids it in various ways. In Philadelphia, a half Southern city, whose prejudices appeared invincible, there is now no visible sign of objection to the movement, and the matter has been taken hold of there energetically by men of all parties, as will appear by the list of signatures to the address, where Democrats, Old Line Whigs, Republicans and Abolitionists all appear as aiders and forwarders of the scheme for the enlistment of the blacks. A fund of $15,000 has already been raised there to repay extraordinary expenses, and it is believed that $50,000 will be obtained. Altogether the measure seems to be a popular one, and we have no doubt it will receive aid from this City.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

WAR GAZETTE.

[OFFICIAL.]

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, July 3, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS No. 209.—1. The attention of all persons in the military service of the United States is called to article 7 of the cartel agreed upon July 22, 1862, and published in General Orders No. 142, Sept. 25, 1862. According to the terms of this cartel all captures must be reduced to actual possession, and all prisoners of war must be delivered at the places designated, there to be exchanged, or paroled until exchange can be effected. The only exception allowed is the case of commanders of two opposing armies, who were authorized to exchange prisoners, or to release them on parole at other points mutually agreed upon by said commanders.

2. It is understood that captured officers and men have been paroled and released in the field by others than commanders of opposing armies, and that the sick and wounded in hospitals have been so paroled and released, in order to avoid guarding and removing them, which, in many cases, would have been impossible. Such paroles are in violation of General Orders and the stipulations of the cartel, and are null and void. They are not regarded by the enemy, and will not be respected in the armies of the United States. Any officer or soldier who gives such parole will be returned to duty without exchange, and moreover, will be punished for disobedience of orders. It is the duty of the captor to guard his prisoners, and if through necessity or choice he fails to do this, it is the duty of the prisoner to return to the service of his Government. He cannot avoid this duty by giving an authorized military parole.

3. A military parole not to serve till exchanged must not be confounded with a parole of honor, to do or not to do a particular thing not inconsistent with the duty of a soldier; thus a prisoner of war actually held by the enemy may in order to obtain exemption from a close guard or confinement, pledge his parole of honor that he will make no attempt to escape. Such pledges are binding upon the individuals giving them, but they should seldom be given or received, for it is the duty of a prisoner to escape, if able to do so. Any pledge or parole of honor extorted from a prisoner by ill usage or cruelty is not binding.

4. The obligations imposed by the general law and usages of law upon the combatant inhabitants of a section of country passed over by an invading army, ceases when the military occupation ceases, and any pledge or parole given by such persons in regard to future service, is null and of no effect.

By order of the Secretary of War.

E. D. TOWNSEND, Assistant Adjt-Gen.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

THE FOURTH AT THE CAPITAL.

The celebration of the Fourth at the Capital will commence at 10 A.M., a procession forming at the City Hall in the following order: Band; soldiers of 1812, the civil authorities; a brigade of volunteers, guests; civic societies, citizens. At the President's grounds will be a prayer by Rev. BYRON SUNDERLAND; reading of the Declaration of Independence by Hon. L. E. CHITTENDEN, and an oration by Hon. HIRAM WALBRIDGE. There will be fireworks in the evening, and a national salute at noon from all the fortifications.

GENS. DIX AND KEYES.

Disappointment is expressed in high quarters at the tardy movements of Gens. DIX and KEYES.

A RECONNOISSANCE.

Rebel squads being yesterday reported in the eighborhood of Rockville, Col. BAKER, with two companies of his highly efficient cavalry battalion, under Capts. BAKER and BAILEY, reconnoitered last night all that region, finding no enemy.

THE DISTRICT MILITIA.

Great excitement was caused here among the resident population subject to militia duty, by a warning out to-day of every man, with a peremptory order to be mustered in on Monday for sixty days' service, of the whole eight regiments of organized infantry and uniformed cavalry and infantry companies of the District. No exemption plea but disability is received. Besides this force, in nearly every Government Department the employes are rapidly organizing themselves into special battalions.

THE WORKMEN AT THE NAVY-YARD.

The workmen of the Navy-yard are organized for military service, but have never yet been called into action. This afternoon an order was read for all to proceed immediately with boat howitzers for service on the outskirts of the city. The men were recently drilled by Capt. FERRALL A. PARKER, in his new system of naval tactics.

APPOINTMENT.

Com. HENRY K. HOFF is appointed member of the Board of Examiners.

NAVAL.

Lieut. JAS. P. ROBERTSON is detached from the Wabash and waiting orders.

COURTS' MARTIAL.

Capt. A. VON PUTTKAMMER, Eleventh New-York Independent battery, was tried before a Court-martial of which Col. S. M. BOWMAN, Sixty-eighth Pennsylvania Volunteers, is President, under charges of disobedience of orders, cowardice and misbehavior in the presence of the enemy. The first specification was as follows:

In this, that Capt. A. VON PUTTKAMMER, of the Eleventh New-York Independent battery, having received a written order from Maj.-Gen. SICKLES, through Capt. GEORGE E. RANDOLPH, Chief of artillery, Third corps, to report with his battery to Capt. RANDOLPH, at crest near Gen. SLOCUM'S headquarters, and in rear of the line of battle of the Third corps, did not obey said order, but marched his battery to the rear, while the corps to which it belonged was becoming rapidly exhausted and falling back. This on the morning of Sunday, May 3, 1863, near Chancellorsville, Va.

He was found guilty of all the charges and was sentenced "to be dismissed the military service of the United States and to forfeit all pay and allowances now due him from the Government."

The proceedings received this indorsement:

"The proceedings of the Court in the case of Capt. A. VON PUTTKAMMER have been forwarded for the action of the President of the United States. The sentence was dismissal from the service with loss of pay; but the requirements of the Eighty-fifth Article of War respecting publication in the newspapers were not complied with, and the sentence is therefore inoperative. The President, however, directs that the accused be dismissed the service, and Capt. VON PUTTKAMMER accordingly ceases to be an officer of the United States service from the 15th day of June, 1863."

PAROLED PRISONERS.

Upwards of one thousand paroled Union prisoners arrived at Annapolis from Richmond yesterday, including forty-six ladies, principally officers' wives captured at Winchester.

CARE OF THE WOUNDED.

It is stated that in the medical organization of the Army of the Potomac, the arrangements for removing and caring for the wounded are far superior to those of any preceding time, and equal to those of any army in Europe.

THE DEATHS OF SOLDIERS.

The following deaths were reported at the office of Capt. HAUPT:

G. W. Perkins, First Massachusetts cavalry.
J. J. McDonald, Seventh Michigan cavalry.
E. A. J. Paine, Twelfth Rhode Island.
Wm. Phillips, One Hundred and Fifty-seventh N. Y.
Patt. Riley, Thirteenth New-York cavalry.
A. Robinson, Twentieth New-York State Militia.
G. H. Scott, Eighth New-York cavalry.
Wm. H. Sherman, Sixteenth Vermont Volunteers.
John Riley, Tenth New-York cavalry.
Lieutenant Grist, Eighty-third Pennsylvania Vols.

DISPATCH TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

EXAMINATION OF MIDSHIPMEN.

Admiral GOLDSBOROUGH has been appointed President of a Board for the final examination of the class of midshipmen who entered the Naval Academy in 1859.

THE ARREST OF DESERTERS.

The opinion of the Solicitor of the War Department in relation to the arrest of deserters is published. It is to the effect that the Provost-Marshal is to decline to produce a deserter, to subject him to the process of the Court, on writ of habeas corpus, for the reason it would be inconsistent with, and in violation of, the duty of the respondent; and that it is his legal duty to deliver the deserter to the nearest military commander, or military post.

Some of the militia mustered to-day, in obedience to the order of the President, calling out the eight regiments already organized, were the uniformed cavalry and infantry companies. They are to serve the United States sixty days.

MOSBY'S GUERRILLAS.

It is stated that about 100 of MOSBY'S guerrillas were last night about two miles this side of Vienna and Fairfax Court-house, Va. He makes Fairfax Court-house his headquarters.

A gang of rebels, supposed to be a portion of the same band, are now holding Aldie, in Loudon County. They have of late been hovering in front of the fortifications on the other side of the Potomac.

THE SIEGE OF VICKSBURGH

Official Advices from Gen. Grant to June 28

ACTIVITY OF THE REBEL GARRISON

Reinforcements Said to be Moving to Johnston.

Movements of Price, Marmaduke and Kirby Smith.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

The President, to-day, received a dispatch from Gen. GRANT, dated June 27. He says he learns that JOHNSTON would be reinforced by ten thousand men early this week. He thought we would have Vicksburgh ere that time, but if not, he could take care of both PEMBERTON and JOHNSTON.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 3.

The Republican, of this afternoon, says the Government has a dispatch dated Vicksburgh, June 27, stating that the siege was progressing finely. No mention was made of rebels in GRANT'S rear.

CHICKASAW BAYOU, Monday, June 29, } via CAIRO, Friday, July 3. }

A gentleman from the front reports everything in statu quo. Operations continue against the rebel works, but the firing is better than that two days ago. The rebels still dispute our hold on Fort Hill.

Col. MELANCTHON SMITH died of his wounds yesterday. Col. HANSIBLE was mortally wounded by a grenade while entering the fort.

JOHNSON'S advance is said to be a few miles from our outer pickets, but only a show of force is expected. Everything is prepared for a rear attack.

FROM MEMPHIS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn, Wednesday, July 1.

Official advices from the army of Gen. GRANT to the 28th of June, furnish the following particulars:

The rebel garrison at Vicksburgh is very active.

The rebels are making a desperate resistance to the progress of the siege, with the hope that relief will soon reach them.

Additional rebel reinforcements are said to be on the way from Gen. BRAGG to Gen. JOHNSTON, and the latter is perfecting arrangements to attack Gen. GRANT'S rear.

Generals PRICE, MARMADUKE and KIRBY SMITH are combining to get to some point on the banks of the Mississippi, and will probably make an attempt to take Milliken's Bend and stop navigation.

GEN. HURLBUT WATCHING THE REBELS.

MEMPHIS, Wednesday, July 1.

Everything is quiet in this section. Gen. HURLBUT is watching the movements of the rebels in the country adjacent to and south of his lines.

The weather is extremely hot.

NEWS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

FORTRESS MONROE, Thursday, July 2.

The Committee appointed by the Common Council of Portsmouth, Va., to investigate the matter of the issue of $50,000 in city scrip by the rebel City Government previous to the evacuation of the city by the rebels, have passed the following resolutions:

1. That the City Council of Portsmouth utterly repudiate the issue of notes by the former Councils of this city, and do order that all action relating thereto be and is hereby rescinded.

2. That the officers of the City Government be prohibited from receiving the same in payment of taxes, licenses or any debts due the city.

These resolutions to be in force from the passage thereof. (Signed,)

S. W. GILDERSLEEVE, W. W. STEVENSON,
WM. ODSON, Committee.

The steamer Kennebec left this afternoon for Baltimore with the Forty-third Massachusetts regiment, Col. CHAS. HOLBROOK. They have offered their services to the Government though their term of service has nearly expired.

Secretary Seward and Independence Day.

The following note was received by the city authorities of Boston from Secretary SEWARD, who, in common with the President and the rest of the Cabinet, received an invitation to be present at the celebration of the Fourth of July:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, Monday, June 29.

GENTLEMEN.—You are right. Continue the celebration of Independence in Boston. Keep the sacred fire alive in Faneuil Hall. Though it glimmer and seem to go out in Richmond and in New-Orleans, it will yet revive there and everywhere else throughout the land. Secession is dependence—dependence first on the faction at home, and afterwards on foreign powers across the Atlantic. Oppose it with Independence—Independence now and forever; for Independence is Union, and nothing else is Union. I am, gentlemen, truly yours,

WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

Legal Decisions.

PORTLAND, Me., Friday, July 3.

The Press of to-morrow will have the decision of the Judges of the Supreme Court on two questions submitted by Gov. COBURN. First—Has a city or town any legal right to pledge its credit to raise money for the purpose of paying the commutation of such of its citizens as may be drafted into the military service of the United States, under the act passed by the last Congress? Second—Has a city or town any legal right to raise money by taxation to provide commutation for such citizens as may thus be drafted? The Court decides both questions unanimously in the negative Relative Mortality of White and Black Soldiers.

The following letter has been addressed to a member of Congress by the Surgeon-General:

SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON CITY, D. C., June 30, 1863.

DEAR SIR: The reports received at this office have reference so far only to the troops serving in the Department of the Gulf. In that Department it appears that malarious diseases (intermittent, remittent and typhoid fevers, diarrhœa, dysentery, etc.,) affect the white troops to the extent of 10 6-10 per cent., whilst the negro soldiers are affected but to the extent of 3-10 of one per cent. The difference is, therefore, greatly in favor of the colored troops.

Yours sincerely, W. A. HAMMOND,
Surgeon-General.

[Communicated.]

At a meeting of the passengers of the steamer Morning Star, held on board, Friday, July 3, 1863, at 10½ o'clock, P. M., SAM HOTALING, Esq., was chosen President, and THOS. DOLAN, Esq., was elected Secretary.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The steamer Morning Star, Capt. A. D. PERKINS commander, left her wharf in New-Orleans on the 27th of June, 1863, at 5:10 o'clock A. M., for the City of New-York, having on board 756 passengers, all of whom were most anxious to exchange the sultry atmosphere of the Crescent City for the more cooling winds of the commercial emporium of the North; the passengers most unanimously agree that the steamer Morning Star is a strong, well built, spacious vessel, and very conveniently arranged for the comfort of passengers; the officers, in the hands of all of the subordinate help on board are of the most temperate and efficient character, giving at all times their most careful attention to the comfort of the passengers on board. Therefore it is hereby unanimously

Resolved, by the passengers composing this meeting, that our most sincere and grateful thanks are justly due to the owners of the vessel, and particularly to the officers and their assistants on board, for the faithful manner in which they have individually discharged the arduous duties pertaining to this most agreeable sea-voyage.

Resolved, That the sincere thanks of the passengers are hereby unanimously tendered to Capt. A. D. PERKINS, commander, for his wise attention and ceaseless care for the safety of the ship, and the comfort of all the persons on board; and we render our thanks also to Joseph J. Childs, the First Officer; to Henry Sayer, Second Officer; to John Leonard, Chief Engineer; to Charles H. Dentzin, Purser; to James Slater, Steward, and to all of the other efficient assistants on board, for their most careful attention to the speed and safety of the vessel, and to the best comfort of the exceedingly large number of passengers on board the ship during the whole of her most agreeable voyage, within less time than seven days from New-Orleans to the City of New-York.

THE
NEW AND IMPORTANT DISCOVERY FOR THE CURE OF DEAFNESS.
DISCHARGES FROM THE EAR
AND
PARTIAL DEAFNESS
EXCLUSIVELY AND SUCCESSFULLY TREATED BY
DR. HARTLEY,
NO. 2 THIRD-ST.,
NEW-YORK.

The only acknowledged Aurist in the United States who generously offers to attend all persons suffering from Affections of the Ear without charge until cured, thereby proving his success unequaled, and protecting the deaf from being swindled by paying self-styled aurists exorbitant fees in advance, and the infliction of yet more serious evils by permitting the application of dangerous remedies by inexperienced and unskillful hands.

Deafness, noise in the head, and all disagreeable discharges from the ear speedily and permanently removed, without causing the least pain or inconvenience. A cure in all cases guaranteed where malformation does not exist.

Thirteen years' close and undivided attention to this branch of special practice has enabled him to reduce his treatment to such a degree of success as to find the most confirmed and obstinate cases yield by a steady attention to the means prescribed.

Persons suffering from any disease or derangement of the organ of special sense, may command the services of DR. HARTLEY without the chagrin and mortification of seeing their names and diseases paraded in a public newspaper.

Office and residence, No. 2 Third-street, opposite Great Jones-st. Reception hours from 9 to 4 o'clock. Consultation and examination free.

WHAT I SAW IN TENNESSEE.
BY EDMUND KIRKE.

THE NEW-YORK DAILY TRIBUNE, of Monday, July 6, (Triple Sheet,) will contain twenty-four columns of literary matter of unusual interest and variety, enough to make a good sized volume. Among these articles is the first of a series of Letters written expressly for THE TRIBUNE, by EDMUND KIRKE, author of "Among the Pines," entitled "What I Saw in Tennessee." Mr. "Kirke" has recently made a tour in the Southwest, and proposes to give in these letters an inside view of the Rebellion, for which his familiarity with Southern people and their habits, and his remarkable facility in describing them, eminently fit him. This first letter sets forth the character and portrays the enormities of the Rebellion with a vividness and power not hitherto reached by any other writer. An article of great value on the French Navy; another upon the English System of Taxation; the first of three letters containing a narrative of a tour in Japan by the Special Correspondent of THE TRIBUNE; Reviews of New Books, and especially of the forthcoming work of Mrs. Frances Butler on life as she saw it on a Southern plantation, and other articles both valuable and entertaining, make up a sheet such as is never published anywhere else but in a TRIBUNE SUPPLEMENT.

DEAFNESS
NOISES IN THE HEAD,
Diseases of the Eye, Ear & Throat,
CATARRH CURED
BY
DR. VON EISENBERG.

Author of "Surgical and Practical Observations on the Diseases of the Ear, with his new Mode of Treatment."

NEW TESTIMONY.

"NEW-YORK, May 6.

I was entirely deaf in my left ear, accompanied by a discharge. I placed myself under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S care, who, by his great skill, restored me to perfect hearing, in the short space of a few minutes, without giving me the slightest pain, and the discharge has ceased entirely. The Eustachian Tube, which was obliterated, is quite open, and I feel that the air-passage performs its functions. I am amply satisfied, and recommend every one suffering from impaired hearing to place themselves under the treatment of this eminent and successful physician.

THOMAS GRANAN, No. 538 6th-av."

"NEW-YORK, May 7, 1863.

I have great pleasure to testify to the skill of Dr. VON EISENBERG. I went into his office almost completely deaf, and came out with my perfect hearing. It is nearly twelve months since, and the hearing is perfect. The operation, which lasted two or three minutes in each of my ears, gave me no pain whatsoever. I, with confidence, recommend all sufferers to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S unsurpassing skill.

SAMUEL C. HUNT,
No. 6 Meserole-av., Greenpoint, L. I."

No. 136 MADISON-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain. JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 10, 1863.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

SIGHT RESTORED.

JUNE 25, 1863.

My daughter brought me to Dr. VON EISENBERG almost completely blind in both eyes. I could not bear the pain nor the light. I am completely cured by Dr. VON EISENBERG, and called now to express my gratitude to the Doctor for his skill and unremitting attention, by which I recovered one of the most precious senses to me after being deprived of it for four years. It is only due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to state that I have tried several physicians in vain. I shall be happy to bear personal testimony to Dr. VON EISENBERG'S unrivaled success to any lady or gentleman who will call on me.

No. 76 Fulton-st., Brooklyn.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.
READ

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose constantly stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great lightness of the chest and pain, so much so that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he shows in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

THE NEW NOVEL BY MRS. LILLIE DEVEREUX UMSTED, SECOND EDITION,
ROCKFORD:
OR, SUNSHINE AND STORM.
ONE ELEGANT 12MO, CLOTH BOUND, 9

"A story alternating between the quiet life of a country seat and the gaiety and evil of a fashionable circle in New York. The contrasting scenes are admirably and effectively handled; the characters well drawn, the plot skillfully managed, the narrative and dramatic style both graceful and vigorous, and the book altogether a most interesting one."—Buffalo Express.

THE FOUNDATIONS OF HISTORY.
A SERIES OF FIRST THINGS.
By SAMUEL B. SCHMUCKER.
One Volume, Crown 8vo, elegantly printed, with numerous Illustrations, $1 50.

"This curious" [interesting book is a brief history of the World from the Creation to the Christian era. A great many detached facts are brought together, and their relations analyzed to illustrate the fact that the history of the World is a development of the purpose of God."—Commercial Advertiser.

"Among the subjects are: First Writing; Angels, Garden of Eden, the First Man, the First Marriage, the First Language, the First Sin, the First Sin Offering, the First Child, the First City, First Inventions, First Length of Life, First Vessel, First Government, First Heathen Poets and Philosophers, First Theatres, First Money, &c., &c.

"The plan is unique, and excites curiosity. It is well carried out, and affords the reader quite a mass of instructive, and often entertaining information. The work is written in a devout spirit, and in a plain and simple style. The quotations from standard authors are quite frequent, and appropriately introduced. Some of the striking facts, often elucidating scripture, are presented."—Evangelist.

Even the brief specimens give no adequate idea of the wide range of subjects—religious, scientific, literary and artistic, which are treated. There is no parade of learning, but a vast amount of information is gathered together and presented with modesty, and throughout with profound reverence for the bible as the only infallible teacher of history and divine truth. There are several illustrations, chiefly of Egyptian Antiquities, exquisitely engraved, and the volume itself is a beautiful specimen of American book-making."—N. Y. Observer.

"We cannot do a better thing than to direct the attention of our readers to this book. * * * It is timely, because it proceeds on the most unyielding faith in Holy Writ, as the foundation of the history of our race. It is astonishing that a collection of unproven statements about a few arrow-heads and three or four skeletons, with the very simple facts about the Swiss lake-houses, should have so much more value in the mind of any reasonable man, than the 'foundations of history' which are described in Mr. Schliemann's admirable book."—Journal of Commerce.

"Every page of this work is full of instruction, presented in a condensed and impressive way, which renders it otherwise attractive as it is, valuable. We commend this treatise to the attention of parents, superintendents of Sabbath schools, and to all lovers of religious knowledge."—Christian Intelligencer.

IMPORTANT TO THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

The third edition of Appletons' Official Illustrated Railway Guide will be ready this day at 10 A. M. To those who are interested in the affairs of the country at this critical time, and who are not Appletons' Official Railway Guide is indispensable. In addition to much other valuable information, independent of the Time Tables of nearly three hundred Railways, it contains nearly one hundred Railway Maps, representing the principal Railways of the country, the stations, towns, villages and cities situated upon them, together with the distance from station to station. Through the instrumentality of Appletons' Railway Guide, all classes of the community can make themselves familiar with the different Railways of the country. To illustrate: The report reaches us that Harrisburgh is in danger; we wish to ascertain the position of Harrisburgh; we turn to page 104 of the Guide, upon which we find the map of the Pennsylvania Central Railway, and we see not only the position of Harrisburgh, but also of Columbia, Chambersburgh, York, Hestyrsburgh, and many other places of interest to all. Opposite the map, on page 105, we find the Time Table of the Road, giving the time of the departure and arrival of trains, together with the distance from station to station. By turning to pages 68 and 69 of the Guide, we find the map of the New-York Central Railway, upon which is represented all the principal cities of the United States, including Vicksburgh, Jackson, Memphis, Nashville, &c. Again, by turning to pages 126 and 127, we find the map of the Saratoga and Lake Champlain route, representing all the important points of interest, accompanied by a list of Tourist Guides.

As been frequently remarked by the Press throughout the United States: "The value that Appletons' Illustrated Railway Guide is to all classes of the intelligent community, cannot be estimated by dollars and cents. Every body should be placed in the hands of every man, woman and child in the country."

FINANCIAL.

UNITED STATES TREASURY,
NEW-YORK, June 29, 1863.

BY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY of the Treasury, I hereby give notice that I will, until the 31st day of July, inclusive, receive subscriptions at par for United States Bonds of the loan of 1862, bearing six (6) per cent. interest in gold coin, commonly known as Five-Twenties.

JOHN J. CISCO,
Assistant Treasurer U. S.

LAKE SHIE AND PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY.

FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND BONDS.

The Lake Erie and Pacific Railroad Company, in the State of Indiana, now offer for sale their entire issue of $800,000 First, and only, Mortgage Bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, payable semi-annually in the City of New-York.

These bonds are secured by a DEED OF TRUST, constituting the FIRST and ONLY lien upon the entire Road, its franchises, appurtenances, rolling stock, &c.

Its route is along the White Water Valley, from Rushville to Union, a distance of about sixty miles, and passes through the richest, best cultivated and most densely populated portion of the State of Indiana.

The road is the CENTRAL SECTION of the otherwise completed TRUNK LINE, connecting the great South-west at LOUISVILLE, Ky., on the Ohio River, and at an early day with TOLEDO and SANDUSKY, on Lake Erie.

The Company is wholly without debt (except its bonded debt) and being strong in its local traffic, and connecting with roads that must necessarily largely increase the volume of its revenues, the BOARD OF DIRECTORS, with great confidence, invite the attention of capitalists to these securities, believing that they offer an opportunity for a first-class railroad investment, than which, in their judgment, there is no better to be had.

The published exhibits of the Company, together with a map showing the locality and advantages of the Road, can be had from either of the Trustees of the Deed of Trust, in this City, named below, and from either whom the bonds are only to be had.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where these afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The afflicted to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1840. N. B.—Those who have used their preventives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted shou'd read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH regained in three days by Dr. POWERS ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Debility, and impediments to marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate case is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young men, who are your subjects to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' Invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 50 Lispenard-st., between Broadway and Church-st., New-York.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED AND THOSE ABOUT TO BE MARRIED.—Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, has just published the 160th edition of the valuable book, entitled "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York; or can be sent by mail, free of postage, to any part of the United States and Canada, by inclosing $1, and addressing Box No. 1,224 New-York City. For sale by H. RICHARDSON, at No. 1 Vesey-st., (Astor House,) and No. 18 Ann-st.; FEDERHEN & CO., 13 Court-st., Boston.

A PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE—Containing nearly 300 pages, and 150 fine plates and engravings of the anatomy of the sexual organs, in a state of health and disease, with a treatise on self-abuse, its deplorable consequences upon the mind and body, with the author's plan of treatment—the only rational and successful mode of cure, as shown by the report of cases treated. A truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain doubts of their physical condition. Sent, free of postage, to any address on receipt of 25 cents, in specie or postage-stamps. Address Dr. LA CROIX, No. 31 Maiden-lane, Albany, N. Y.

DR. LEWIS' CELEBRATED REMEDIES are mild and effectual in their operation, require no restraint in diet, loss of time, or hindrance in business, possessing the power of eradicating every symptom of disease in its worst stages. One trial will convince the most skeptical of their surprising properties. Slight cases cured in two days, or prevented, if application is made in time. Office No. 7 Beach-st., between Varick-st. and West Broadway, New-York.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in cases of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases. Warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. Beware of imitations! Purchase directly of Dr POWERS, 50 Lispenard-st., New-York

DR. WARD'S MAGICAL INVIGORATORS, IN the form of Pills, will, in fifteen minutes after being taken, make the recipient as vigorous as if nature had never been retarded or debilitated. To the unmarried or single, in every physical exigency, this unrivaled medicine is earnestly recommended as a complete restorative of the nervous system where manhood has been impaired. Procured of Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st., between Broadway and Church-st. Call or send for circulars.

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP RESTORES the vigor of youth in four days. Restores manhood to the most shattered system. No. 3 Division-st., New-York, the only place. Beware of bogus Dr. Hunters. The City is full of knaves, up to every trick to rob him of his great reputation as a skilful and reliable physician. No other office but No. 3 Division-st. Established in 1834. Eight separate rooms and a private entrance.

SOMETHING FOR EVERY LADY.—DR. WARD'S Great Female Benefactor or Golden Regulating Pills. Infallible in correcting, regulating and removing all obstructions, from whatever cause, and they will never disappoint the anxious patient. Office No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, where Dr. WARD can be consulted, confidentially, day and evening.

DR. JOHNSON, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY be consulted with confidence on private diseases. Thirty years in one specialty enables him to guarantee speedy and permanent cures. N. B.—Those who may have been misled by quack advertisements, nostrums, &c., can call on Dr. J. with the certainty of receiving honorable treatment.

DRS. GRIFFIN, NO. 258 GRAND-ST., N.Y., opposite Lord and Taylor's, and No 257 Fulton-st., Brooklyn, are inserting their improved Artificial Teeth, with or without extracting the roots; full sets on gold or platina, $25; on silver or rubber, $8; partial sets (gold) per tooth, $2; silver or rubber, $1; extracting, 25c.

ADVICE TO LADIES.—IN ALL CASES where infallible medicines are desired, or mode of treatment that never fails, call upon Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, author of "The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion," who treats female complaints exclusively. Office No. 129 Liberty-st.

DRS. DE FORREST AND BROOKS, NO. 13 Franklin-st., New-York, will speedily cure every form of secret disease, or in every case refund the money. Charges low. Private entrance.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it, and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

THE GREAT BATTLE.

engagement at Gettysburgh yesterday, up to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

BALTIMORE, Friday, July 3.

The American has the following account of the battle:

WESTMINSTER, Md., Friday, July 3.

From the many reports brought here by parties from the battle-field, we make the following narration of the battle of Thursday:

Line of battle was formed about 4 o'clock A. M., our centre occupying the heights on this side of Gettysburgh at and near the cemetery. The Second and Third corps, Gen. SICKLES, formed the left wing; the First and Eleventh were on the right. Skirmishers were immediately thrown forward along the whole line in order to feel the enemy's position.

Our batteries also shelled the heights and woods, in order, if possible, to destroy the place where the enemy intended to mass his forces. We could elicit no reply from the rebel batteries. Their skirmishers were active and very often reinforced. The silence of the enemy was ominous.

Shortly after a terrific cannonade was opened on our centre and left, from the rebel batteries, which had been quietly placed in position, having been masked by woods and grain fields. Our rifled guns replied with awful power and telling effect for two hours.

The air seemed literally filled with screaming messengers of death. Old Soldiers, who had heard the roar of cannon at Gaines' Mill, Malvern Hill, Fredericksburgh and Chancellorsville, declared the cannonading to be equal, if not greater than that of any of those engagements.

Suddenly a wild demoniac yell arose from thousands of rebel throats near the centre and left of our line to where the enemy were massing their great attack. SICKLE'S corps sustained the first terrific onset of the rebel forces which had been massed on our right. The rattle of musketry now became incessant.

As soon as the design of the rebels became evident, a large number of pieces of the reserve artillery were massed in a splendid position to oppose the rebel infantry. At this time the centre and left centre advanced with loud cheers, pushing the rebels from point to point through the valley and up the heights beyond.

The enemy was secreted behind trees, rocks and ledges, and in many cases they were bayonetted by our troops or taken prisoners.

Night came at last, and with her sable closed the scene. The result of the day's work may be summed up briefly as follows: LEE had been attacked on his chosen ground, and our centre had driven the rebel lines more than one mile. The Army of the Potomac fought with a gallantry never before equalled during the war.

COL. CROSS, OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE, KILLED.

BALTIMORE, Friday, July 3.

The body of Col. CROSS, of the Fifth New-Hampshire Volunteers, arrived to-day, and will leave for New-Hampshire Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock. He was killed on Thursday near Gettysburgh.

LATEST FROM YESTERDAY'S BATTLE.

The Rebel Army Driven in a Northwesterly Direction.

MORE FIGHTING EXPECTED TO-DAY.

PHILADELPHIA, Saturday, July 4—3 A. M.

The following is a special to the Press:

HANOVER, Pa., Friday, July 3.

Early this morning the battle was renewed with increased vigor, and throughout this day has proved the most fearful of all the war.

The losses on both sides are very heavy. Among the casualties is Gen. BARLOW, severely wounded.

We captured more prisoners than the rebels.

Our officers are very enthusiastic in praise of the heroic conduct of our men. They never stood so like veterans before.

The enemy's entire force was engaged, and all our forces except Gen. COUCH'S.

LATER.—To-night a messenger came from the battle-field, stating that up to 6 o'clock we had driven the enemy about three-quarters of a mile northwest.

All our men are confident of ultimate success. It is probable the battle will be renewed early to-morrow.

OUR SPECIAL ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

Gen. Kilpatrick's First Fight with his New Command—The Rebel Cavalry to be Wiped Out—Progress of the Army—The Reception of our Troops by the Marylanders, &c.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Wednesday Morning, July 1, 1863.

KILPATRICK, who has just been placed in command of STAHL'S division of cavalry, baptized his new command in blood on free soil yesterday. I sent you a brief dispatch, by a special Orderly, last evening, just as I learned that telegraphic communication had been restored with Baltimore, via Frederick.

We first heard of the rebel raid on Sunday evening, and have been on the qui vive for its results for two days. We heard of the rebels at Rockville, then at Laurel Factory, but not again until last night, when they entered Westminster, Carrol County, in force. They began coming in about 11 o'clock in the morning, and kept arriving until 4 o'clock P. M. They evidently intended to camp for the night, for they commenced posting their pickets, when they happened to run against the pickets of the Second army corps, near Union Bridge. This warned them that they were in a dangerous locality; and after halting and feeding, they again set out, taking the road toward Hanover, Penn. The rear guard left Westminster yesterday morning, about daylight.

Monday night Gen. GREGG was dispatched with his division to Westminster, but owing to some delay, did not bring up with the enemy until about daylight, and only captured a few of the pickets who had been left.

Gen. KILPATRICK had been sent to Littlestown, Pa., seven miles south of Hanover, where he arrived Monday afternoon, and held the place over night. Early Tuesday he fell in with a portion of STUART'S force, pursuing its way to Hanover, and brisk skirmishing began, which was kept up to Hanover. Here KILPATRICK ordered a charge, and though the enemy was far superior to him, (STUART'S whole force being present.) Yet he compelled them to give way, and captured fifty prisoners, including one Lieutenant-Colonel and one Lieutenant. This was the first time that KILPATRICK'S new command, mainly Michigan cavalry, had been under fire, and they acquitted themselves handsomely.

The rebels had a large wagon train with them, and their main object seemed to be to get it out of the way. They were not desirous of fighting, but seemed only anxious to secure their retreat. Unless they make better time than I think they can, there will be some savage encounters to-day, for PLEASANTON is determined to wipe them out.

And à propos to this I may mention the accession of three new Brigadier-Generals to the cavalry force, in the persons of Capt. MERRITT, of the Fifth regular cavalry, Capt. COSTAR, of Gen. PLEASANTON'S Staff, and Capt. FARNSWORTH, of the Eighth Illinois cavalry. These are three dashing and brilliant young officers, who are thus appointed in violation of red tape and regardless of political influences, because of their pure fitness to lead cavalry. Maj.-Gen. PLEASANTON has said that with such officers he can destroy the rebel cavalry, and he will do it. The new Generals are assigned, and are already at work.

It may be interesting to know that the boasted rebel cavalry force, which, according to their own admissions, was 12,000 strong before the Beverly Ford fight, cannot now number more than 8,000 for duty. Our force, on the contrary, is larger and better than ever before.

In retiring this afternoon, the rebel cavalry fell back on York, which to us indicates that they either mean to join the rebel army at Harrisburgh, or else fear that our infantry force may be on their flank. They intended to push for Chambersburgh, but the discovery of HANCOCK'S infantry on their left flank doubtless induced them to change their minds.

BUFORD made a very saucy dash into Gettysburgh yesterday and drove out a regiment of rebel infantry which retreated toward York. This movement we don't fully understand, but it is perfectly satisfactory. A pike runs from Gettysburgh to York via Abbottsville and Berlin, and the enemy were pursued to a point beyond the former place. This leads us to believe that they have a large force on a line about parallel with the Susquehanna, from Carlisle on the north to York on the south. It looks very much as though the rebels were spreading themselves out very thin, in order to get subsistence. They could not make a more favorable disposition for us.

We held last night, with our advance, a position parallel with the State line, running from Hanover on the right to Gettysburgh on the left, a distance of fourteen miles. Gettysburgh is connected by rail with Baltimore via the Hanover Branch railroad to Hanover Junction on the Northern Central railroad. There is also a good pike leading to the same city, via Littlestown. The latter place is just three miles north of the State line, and about half way between Hanover and Gettysburgh. It is connected with Hanover and thence with the rest of the world by a branch of the Hanover Branch railroad.

Telegraphic communication with Washington, which was broken on Sunday, was restored again last evening, and our blissful moments are at an end. We have enjoyed forty-eight hours of serene quiet and agreeable temper.

The absurdity of Gen. HALLECK'S order forbidding Gen. HOOKER to remove the garrison from Maryland Heights, as well as the order to cover that point, is sufficiently demonstrated by the present position of things. A garrison of ten thousand men at Maryland Heights would be very useful (?) just now. They would need full fifty thousand men to protect them.

Gen. HOOKER has been detained in Frederick ever since his removal. He started on Monday morning by rail, but got no further than the Junction. He started again on horseback, in the afternoon, but got only a short distance, when the party concluded it was safer to turn back and await the conclusion of events. They probably got away last night.

The reception given to the Army of the Potomac by the people of Maryland and Pennsylvania is perfectly magnificent. Blessings and hospitalities are showered profusely on every hand. The heartfelt, unconditional loyalty of such towns as Westminster, Union Bridge, Middleburgh, Taneytown and Liberty, reanimates the soul of every man of us. The troops are welcomed with great enthusiasm, and receive many presents in the way of eatables, which lightens the demand for rations amazingly. The country through Frederick and Carroll Counties, Md., is as lovely as the eye ever rested on—beautiful farms, fine brick houses, and barns as large as the hearts of the people. At Taneytown, the entrance of the cavalry and the Third corps was a perfect ovation—the whole population turning out to receive them. Courtesies and hospitalities were tendered from nearly every house. The Rev. L. W. WILLIAMS, pastor of the Lutheran Church, and his estimable lady, entertained Gen. PLEASANTON and Staff with a dinner which would rival a DELMONICO, and many others did equally well. These things have a great effect on the troops, and they will meet the enemy with renewed vigor and determination.

May the issue be concordant with the hopes thus inspired!

L. L. CROUNSE.

Gen. Kilpatrick's Fight at Hanover—List of Casualties, &c.

HANOVER, Penn., Tuesday, June 30, 1863.

Gen. KILPATRICK started from Littletown this morning, and occupies this town to-night. The command was at first moved through the town, and the advance had reached Abbottsville (four miles) when he was attacked by STUART, by LEE'S, ROBINSON'S and HAMPTON'S brigades, in rear and flank upon the brigade commanded by Gen. FARNSWORTH. The Fifth New-York made a charge through the main street and captured a stand of colors, and also Col. PAYNE, formerly of the Black Horse cavalry. Col. PAYNE was also severely wounded. Capt. JAMES DICKERSON, of the Tenth Virginia cavalry, formerly of Baltimore, was killed in this charge.

The fight continued about Hanover for four hours, and resulted in dividing the enemy's force, and one portion is so isolated to-night that this division will have to be whipped before it can escape.

While there are a few traitors in Hanover, I am happy to say that a majority of the people—and particularly the ladies—are loyal. The ladies, while there was skirmishing in the streets, came out and attended the wounded.

We have captured one Lieutenant-Colonel, (PAYNE,) one Captain and 50 non-commissioned officers and privates. Our loss in prisoners is about the same.

Annexed is a list of killed and wounded, as furnished by Surgeon HENRY CARPMART:

The following letter was captured to-day, which indicates quite clearly that we are surrounded by spies, even in the State of Pennsylvania:

ON MARCH, June 30, 1863.

GENERAL: A citizen, direct from Littletown, informs me, that Gen. KILPATRICK, with four regiments, of which the First Virginia, First Vermont and Fifth New-York are three, and six pieces of artillery, left that place this morning for Hanover. The road that I am in strikes the Littleton and Hanover road at McSherryville, two miles from Hanover.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
FITZ LEE,
Brigadier-General Commanding.

The above was written in pencil as I have written it, and as the regiments named belonged to Gen. K's division, it was quite apparent that the Citizen stated the truth. Gen. KILPATRICK is to-night having all the Copperheads arrested to prevent them from furnishing the enemy with further information.

A caisson, attached to PENNINGTON'S battery, exploded to-day, killing one man, wounding three others, and killing a horse.

E. A. PAUL.

FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

ARRIVAL OF THE MORNING STAR

A Rumor of the Capture of Port Hudson.

The Rebels in the Lafourche Country.

RECAPTURE OF BRASHEAR CITY

The Morning Star, Capt. A. D. PERKINS, left New-Orleans on the 27th June, at 8:30 A. M., and arrived at her wharf at 5 P. M. yesterday, making the run in 6 days and 9 hours. The Morning Star brings a full freight of sugar and cotton, $170,000 American Gold, and 230 passengers.

A rumor was current at New-Orleans on the morning of her departure, that Port Hudson had been taken by Gen. BANKS, but this was not confirmed by telegram at the Balize at a later period of the day.

For some days prior to the sailing of the Morning Star there had been rumors that Gen. MAGRUDER from Texas, was in the Attakapa country with a large force of cavalry, &c. By the arrival of the schooner Tip Tip, from Boonsville, Texas, June 5, this would appear to be confirmed, as all the forces of Gen. BEE, lately there, had been withdrawn by MAGRUDER. It is now fully confirmed by an arrival from Berwick Bay, which announces that the rebels took possession of Brashear City, with stores, subsistence and forts; made many prisoners, and captured a large number of contrabands. The cars which left the city on the 26th for Lafourche returned, so they must have also possession of the railroad, thus breaking the connection. The transport steamers St. Mary and the Crescent were at New Orleans by sea from Berwick's Bay to prevent capture. The U. S. sloop-of-war Portsmouth had also arrived from the Passes, her place being taken by five gunboats which arrived from Baton Rouge.

On the bar S. W. Pass passed schooner Henry Perkins, wished to be reported. On the 2d July, at 6:30 A. M., lat. 34° 49', long. 75° 20' W. exchanged signals with steamship Evening Star, bound South. Also on the 2d, off Hatteras, passed an American bark, bound South, showing blue and white signal, with B in centre. On 3d, off Barnegat, passed a schooner, bound South, showing a red signal, with letters W. R. B.

OUR PORT HUDSON CORRESPONDENCE.

HEADQUARTERS BEFORE PORT HUDSON,
Tuesday, June 23, 1863.

I herewith send you a list of nearly 900 of the heroic men who have volunteered to lead the "forlorn hope" in the grand forthcoming assault upon Port Hudson; the remainder I had not been able to obtain up to the moment of closing the mail, but will send you by the very first opportunity.

Matters continue here precisely what they were at the date of my last, (the 21st,) except that we are just two days stronger for and nearer to the grand consummation. There is something perfectly awful in the lull of the past two or three days; knowing, as we do, what work is to follow it. For the last few days—as if by mutual understanding—(although no agreement to that effect has passed)—our men have been seen near enough to the enemy's ramparts to actually converse—neither side firing a gun, but each busy in making preparations for the work of carnage. At one place our batteries and theirs confront each other so closely that, at a short distance from them, they actually look as if they could throw stones at each other. When artillery commences to play then it will be terrible beyond description.

Looking back to one or two of my sanguine letters, which have already come to roost, not in but out of Port Hudson, makes me timid of indulging in any more prophecies—for the present, at least. But if you in the North are entertaining any doubts of our success here, I can assure you that the real actors in the drama do not share your apprehensions.

Never were there any troops more healthy, confident and determined upon success; and this in spite of many impediments that, to other men, might appear formidable obstacles. I hope our success down here will be so sure and speedy as to waive all discussion upon such a subject; but if any disappointment should happen to us here, no amount of obloquy would be too much for those who could have committed the monstrous absurdity of sending nine months men upon so eventful a mission as this—a mission that, in my humble opinion, far transcends in value the possession of Richmond itself—I mean the capture of Port Hudson and the consequent possession of Vicksburgh and the whole Mississippi River. However, "enough for the day is the evil thereof."

This mail will take you Gen. BANKS' official report of the engagement of the 27th. I hope your Copperheads will read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest what is there said of the colored regiments. Whatever work your Northern revolutionists may hereafter carve out for loyal white men in defence of their own Northern homes, thank God, we are no longer in doubt now as to where armies are to come from to save us in the South, even if the "Peace party" had the power to clog the wheels of Government by impeding conscription. Let the authorities wield the power they hold—push on the organization of the colored regiments—and believe me we shall soon have an army of 250,000 of as good and dauntless soldiers as ever shouldered muskets in defence of a righteous cause.

We are all here in the flush of that excitement belonging to the consciousness of impending great events. At what hour the storm will break forth is not easy to know—for the Commanding General has the rare art of keeping his counsels very secret—but it may be at any moment. God grant that when it does come, it may be attended with the results I now have every reason to anticipate.

RUMORS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Rumored Investment of Richmond by Gen. Dix.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

The Press, of this city, has the following:

BALTIMORE, Thursday, July 2.

Rumors from Fortress Monroe, by the Old Point boat, have given rise to the serious impression that Richmond has been closely invested by Gen. DIX, and is, probably, captured.

The Fort Lafayette Prisoners Removed to Fort Warren.

FORT HAMILTON, Friday, July 3.

The prisoners confined in Fort Lafayette were yesterday removed to Fort Warren.

Men are now at work on the fort mounting guns and strengthening the means of defence.

Arrivals in the City.

Gov. Seymour is expected to arrive in the City, this morning, apartments en suite, having been engaged at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Major-Gen. Franklin, Capt. L. O. Elbert, and Lieut. Robt., U. S. Army; Peter Rintoul, Glasgow; Stewart Darrell, Baltimore; Alexander McEwen, Scotland; and R. S. Carter, Brantford, are at the Brevoort House.

Gen. Hunter, U. S. Army; Judges Howell and Whitaker and families, New-Orleans; Hon. J. Sibley, Illinois; R. Tillotson and J. B. Peck, New-Orleans; and Samuel A. Stinson, Kansas, are at the Metropolitan Hotel.

Hon. Chauncey, Vibbard, Albany; Cols. George Robertson and Mix, U. S. Volunteers; R. R. Hunt and D. W. Evans and wife, New Orleans, are at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

Rev. Bishop Hopkins, Burlington, Vt.; Rev. Dr. Porter, Manhassett; Col. Stuart, Geneva; and A. H. Mayer, U. S. Volunteers, are at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

The Cosmopolitan Cadets.—Prof. A. Cassard, Principal,—from New Hamburgh; C. E. D. Holmes and B. R. Dimon, New Orleans; and T. S. Bradley and wife, New-York, are at the La Farge House.

GEN. ROSECRANS' ADVANCE.

The Entrance of Our Army into Tullahoma.

TULLAHOMA, Wednesday, July 1.

The Second Kentucky cavalry in the advance of Gen. BRANNAN'S division and the Thirty-ninth Indiana mounted infantry, in the advance of Gen. MINTER'S division entered Tullahoma at noon to-day.

WHEELER'S rebel cavalry, the rear guard of the enemy, left as they entered. The town was entirely evacuated, only one soldier and about two dozen caissons remained.

Gen. BRAGG left there last night. His main force retreated on the Winchester road.

Gen. STEARNS, of the rebel cavalry, was mortally wounded in a skirmish on the 30th, and died to-day at Decherd.

The Chattanooga Rebel of the 30th, says, editorially, that—

"Considerable apprehension was manifested yesterday at the reported advance of BURNSIDE, with a column of 30,000 men, upon East Tennessee. We hasten (it says) to dispel the fear.

If BURNSIDE does advance, which he so eminently deserves of us. His last raid into East Tennessee, has fully awakened our War Department to the importance of preparation.

In accordance with this the new levy of troops recently raised under the proclamation of Gov. VANCE has been ordered thither, and are even this posted with other bodies of cavalry and infantry in a quarter not expedient to name; along the line of defence we know are also hourly engaged on the bridges destroyed by the enemy. Although previously advised of the fact, we are permitted to gratify popular curiosity in this matter concerning the movements of Gens. BEAUREGARD and D. H. HILL. These officers know our affairs best, and keep their counsel. It is sufficient to say the new levies now in process of collection come into the service in good time.

We must urge our fellow-citizens of Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia, to be speedy if they would crush the advance of the enemy. Meanwhile troops are hourly en route for the scene of active operations in front, and, however vigilant he may be, we hope to catch ROSECRANS yet. By some longer delay, as yet unexplained, he seems to have gotten temporarily the advantage. The fight has hardly begun. Before he is done with BRAGG he will have one of the bloodiest battles of the war."

The Rebel has a letter from Tullahoma, 26th, giving an account of the battle at Hoover's Gap. It says both JOHNSTON'S and CLAYTON'S brigades were engaged. The Twentieth Tennessee lost 42 killed and wounded. Among the officers killed, was Major FAY CLAYBROOK, Adjutant JAMES THOMAS, Capt. PETTIGREW. The killed of the regiment numbered 11.

Col. Erenfel, Inspector on BRAGG'S Staff, has been arrested by the civil authorities for stealing negroes. He is an Englishman.

Jackson (is Mobile) the 24th says that advices from Vicksburgh of the 23d state that no assault was made last Saturday but GRANT'S works, and the fleet brought their guns to bear on the devoted garrison. The firing was kept up from 2 A. M. till 10 P. M. Our gunners responded briskly.

IODINE.

IODINE WATER.
A SOLUTION OF
PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

No remedy has ever come before the public so wonderful in its curative powers, so astounding in its results, its genuineness as a Pure Solution, and its excellence as a Medicine, are attested by some of the most distinguished names known to science in America and Europe.

The amount of ability, zeal, and assiduity which has been devoted to the elucidation of its effects upon the Human System has not been exceeded in the instance of any other article in Materia Medica; and it is acknowledged to possess very great powers in the cure of many obstinate diseases, over which other remedies have little or no influence.

The unparalleled success in private practice and the indorsement of high medical authority enable us to recommend

as a specific cure for the following diseases: viz.: Scrofula, in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Bronchitis, Liver Complaints, Heart Diseases, Bilious Fevers, Fever and Ague, Nervous Affections, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Female Weaknesses, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, Syphilis, in all its various and afflicting stages, and the only remedy for the successful eradication of Mercurial Diseases, and, in fact, all those distressing and afflicting maladies which arise from an enfeebled, vitiated state of the blood, defective nutrition and impure atmosphere, &c.

That the public may be enlightened as to the nature and uses of Iodine, and be led to appreciate the benefit to be derived from this discovery, the outline of its history is herewith subjoined:

Iodine is an elementary body, discovered in the year 1812, by a soda manufacturer, at Paris. Some years after, its therapeutic (curative) powers were tried; these having been found valuable, it is now recognized as a standard remedy. It received its name from the Greek word which heads this advertisement.

Iodine exists in certain marine vegetables, particularly the fuci or common sea-weed, and in some fresh-water plants, among which are the water-cress, brooklime, and the fine-leaved water hemlock. In the animal kingdom, in the sponge, oyster, various polypi, &c. It is also found in the mineral kingdom, in certain salt springs, in a rare Mexican mineral combined with silver, and in the zinc ore of Silesia.

Iodine was first discovered in the United States in the water of the Congress Spring, Saratoga yesterday the rebels left Chambersburgh, taking the road in the direction of Gettysburgh. Before leaving, they burned the depot and workshops belonging to the railroad. Loudon is fourteen miles west of Chambersburgh.

THE GREAT BATTLE.

The enemy also evacuated Shippensburgh yesterday, moving in the same direction.

Everything goes to show that LEE has his whole army concentrated between Cashtown and Gettysburgh.

The train that left Carlisle at seven o'clock this evening, brought down twenty-four rebel deserters who had come in from the mountains. They know nothing about the result of the battle, but state that both armies are fighting with great desperation.

Firing was heard from daylight up to three o'clock this afternoon, at different points down the river.

REPORTS FROM COLUMBIA, PENN.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

The Evening Bulletin has the following special dispatch:

COLUMBIA, Penn., Friday, July 3.

Capt. ROBERTS, of Philadelphia, who was captured near Gettysburgh and paroled, has arrived here.

He reports that yesterday, beyond York, a courier from Gen. MEADE to Gen. COUCH stopped at a house to have his horse fed.

The women in the house became alarmed, and blew a horn to collect the neighbors; when the courier, fearing that the noise would reach the rebels, threatened them if they did not desist.

At this moment the owner of the house arrived, and, taking the courier for a rebel, drew a pistol and killed him.

The courier's dispatches were subsequently sent to Baltimore, very foolishly, instead of to Harrisburgh.

Capt. ROBERTS says that numbers of people in York and Adams Counties offered every possible assistance to the rebels, pointing out to them the property of Union citizens and of the Government, and showing them the roads.

Heavy and continuous artillery firing was heard yesterday afternoon and last night in the direction of Dover, eight miles northwest of York.

REPORTS FROM WRIGHTSVILLE, PENN.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

The Press, of this city, has the following special dispatch:

WRIGHTSVILLE, Penn., Thursday, July 2.
Twelve o'clock—Midnight.

Our forces are known to have gained upon the enemy until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Since 5 o'clock the firing has been much heavier and more rapid, indicating a general engagement between the entire armies.

The rebel force is concentrated on South Mountain, toward Carlisle, six miles north of Gettysburgh.

Gen. SEDGWICK'S corps passed York, in the direction of Dover, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. It is in the rear of the enemy.

The Second army corps moved up from Hanover at 8 o'clock this morning.

The reported burning of Gettysburgh is unfounded.

REPORTS FROM BALTIMORE.

BALTIMORE, Friday, July 3.

A gentleman from Parkton, twenty-six miles from Baltimore, says that cannonading was heard there from noon yesterday until nine o'clock last night.

The cannonading was very heavy and was resumed again at daylight this morning with great fury.

It is positively known, however, that there was no engagement at Gettysburgh yesterday, up to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

COL. CROSS, OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE, KILLED.

BALTIMORE, Friday, July 3.

The body of Col. CROSS, of the Fifth New-Hampshire Volunteers, arrived to-day, and will leave for New-Hampshire Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock. He was killed on Thursday near Gettysburgh.

GEN. DANA AND THE CLERGY.

The work of recruiting in Philadelphia continues with unabated enthusiasm. Gen. DANA on Thursday sent the following communication to the clergy of the city:

Rev. Dr. Nevin, Secretary of Committee of Clergymen:

DEAR SIR: I beg you will remind the Committee that the offer of three hundred of the clergy of Philadelphia and vicinity to work on the fortifications of the city has not been lost sight of.

I am frequently called on by some of them to inquire when their services will be needed, and to announce that they are waiting for employment. The Chief Engineer, Prof. BACHE, is unable as yet to assign them a place. The city authorities have put at his disposal as many as he has hitherto been able to use. As the work progresses your services will be required.

If inappropriate for me to express my gratitude at so touching an example of a conscientious performance of patriotic duty on the part of men who could not be expected to neglect a call of that nature, I may at least be allowed to express admiration at the real pleasure they appear to take in anticipation of fulfilling so laborious a task.

I trust the example may have a favorable effect on all of us, and may influence us to do with our might whatever our hands find to do, and in such an exhibition of lofty devotion we will recognise an illustration of the proverb, "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is the reproach of any people."

With great respect, your servant,
N. J. T. DANA, Major-General.

OUR SPECIAL ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

Gen. Kilpatrick's First Fight with his New Command—The Rebel Cavalry to be Wiped Out—Progress of the Army—The Reception of our Troops by the Marylanders, &c.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,
Wednesday Morning, July 1, 1863.

KILPATRICK, who has just been placed in command of STAHL'S division of cavalry, baptised his new command in blood on free soil yesterday. I sent you a brief dispatch, by a special Orderly, last evening, just as I learned that telegraphic communication had been restored with Baltimore, via Frederick.

We first heard of the rebel raid on Sunday evening, and have been on the qui vive for its results for two days. We heard of the rebels at Rockville, then at Laurel Factory, but not again until last night, when they entered Westminster, Carroll County, in force. They began coming in about 11 o'clock in the morning, and kept arriving until 4 o'clock P. M. They evidently intended to camp for the night, for they commenced posting their pickets, when they happened to run against the pickets of the Second army corps, near Union Bridge. This warned them that they were in a dangerous locality, and after halting and feeding, they again set out, taking the road toward Hanover, Penn. The rear guard left Westminster yesterday morning, about daylight.

Monday night Gen. GREGG was dispatched with his division to Westminster, but owing to some delay, did not bring up with the enemy until about daylight, and only captured a few of the pickets who had been left.

Gen. KILPATRICK had been sent to Littlestown, Pa., seven miles south of Hanover, where he arrived Monday afternoon, and held the place over night. Early Tuesday he fell in with a portion of STUART'S force, pursuing its way to Hanover, and brisk skirmishing began, which was kept up to Hanover. Here KILPATRICK ordered a charge, and though the enemy was far superior to him, (STUART'S whole force being present.) Yet he compelled them to give way, and captured fifty prisoners, including one Lieutenant-Colonel and one Lieutenant. This was the first time that KILPATRICK'S new command, mainly Michigan cavalry, had been under fire, and they acquitted themselves handsomely.

The rebels had a large wagon train with them, and their main object seemed to be to get it out of the way. They were not desirous of fighting, but seemed only anxious to secure their retreat. Unless they make better time than I think they can, there will be some savage encounters to-day, for PLEASANTON is determined to wipe them out.

And à propos to this I may mention the accession of three new Brigadier-Generals to the cavalry force, in the persons of Capt. MERRITT, of the Fifth regular cavalry, Capt. CUSTAR, of Gen. PLEASANTON'S Staff, and Capt. FARNSWORTH, of the Eighth Illinois cavalry. These are three dashing and brilliant young officers, who are thus appointed in violation of red tape and regardless of political influences, because of their rare fitness to lead cavalry. Maj.-Gen. PLEASANTON has said that with such officers he can destroy the rebel cavalry, and he will do it. The new Generals are assigned, and are already at work.

It may be interesting to know that the boasted rebel cavalry force, which, according to their own admissions, was 12,000 strong before the Beverly Ford fight, cannot now number more than 8,000 for duty. Our force, on the contrary, is larger and better than ever before.

In retiring this afternoon, the rebel cavalry fell back on York, which to us indicates that they either mean to join the rebel army at Harrisburgh, or else fear that our infantry force may be on their flank. They intended to push for Chambersburgh, but the discovery of HANCOCK'S infantry on their left flank doubtless induced them to change their minds.

BUFORD made a very saucy dash into Gettysburgh yesterday and drove out a regiment of rebel infantry which retreated toward York. This movement we don't fully understand, but it is perfectly satisfactory. A pike runs from Gettysburgh to York via Abbottsville and Berlin, and the enemy were pursued to a point beyond the former place. This leads us to believe that they have a large force on a line about parallel with the Susquehanna, from Carlisle on the north to York on the south. It looks very much as though the rebels were spreading themselves out very thin, in order to get subsistence. They could not make a more favorable disposition for us.

We held last night, with our advance, a position parallel with the State line, running from Hanover on the right to Gettysburgh on the left, a distance of fourteen miles. Gettysburgh is connected by rail with Baltimore via the Hanover Branch railroad to Hanover Junction on the Northern Central railroad. There is also a good pike leading to the same city, via Littlestown. The latter place is just three miles north of the State line, and about half way between Hanover and Gettysburgh. It is connected with Hanover and thence with the rest of the world by a branch of the Hanover Branch railroad.

Telegraphic communication with Washington, which was broken on Sunday, was restored again last evening, and our blissful moments are at an end. We have enjoyed forty-eight hours of serene quiet and agreeable temper.

The absurdity of Gen. HALLECK'S order forbidding Gen. HOOKER to remove the garrison from Maryland Heights, as well as the order to cover that point, is sufficiently demonstrated by the present position of things. A garrison of ten thousand men at Maryland Heights would be very useful (?) just now. They would need full fifty thousand men to protect them.

Gen. HOOKER has been detained in Frederick ever since his removal. He started on Monday morning by rail, but got no further than the Junction. He started again on horseback, in the afternoon, but got only a short distance, when the party concluded it was safer to turn back and await the conclusion of events. They probably got away last night.

The reception given to the Army of the Potomac by the people of Maryland and Pennsylvania is perfectly magnificent. Blessings and hospitalities are showered profusely on every hand. The heartfelt, unconditional loyalty of such towns as Westminster, Union Bridge, Middleburgh, Taneytown and Liberty, reanimates the soul of every man of us. The troops are welcomed with great enthusiasm, and receive many presents in the way of eatables, which lightens the demand for rations amazingly. The country through Frederick and Carroll Counties, Md., is as lovely as the eye ever rested on—beautiful farms, fine brick houses, and barns as large as the hearts of the people. At Taneytown, the entrance of the cavalry and the Third corps was a perfect ovation—the whole population turning out to receive them. Courtesies and hospitalities were tendered from nearly every house. The Rev. L. W. WILLIAMS, pastor of the Lutheran Church, and his estimable lady, entertained Gen. PLEASANTON and Staff with a dinner which would rival a DELMONICO, and many others did equally well. These things have a great effect on the troops, and they will meet the enemy with renewed vigor and determination.

May the issue be concordant with the hopes thus inspired!

L. L. CROUNSE.

Gen. Kilpatrick's Fight at Hanover—List of Casualties, &c.

HANOVER, Penn., Tuesday, June 30, 1863.

Gen. KILPATRICK started from Littlestown this morning, and occupies this town to-night. The command was at first moved through the town, and the advance had reached Abbottsville (four miles) when he was attacked by STUART, by LEE'S, ROBINSON'S and HAMPTON'S brigades, in rear and flank upon the brigade commanded by Gen. FARNSWORTH. The Fifth New-York made a charge through the main street and captured a stand of colors, and also Col. PAYNE, formerly of the Black Horse cavalry. Col. PAYNE was also severely wounded. Capt. JAMES DICKINSON, of the Tenth Virginia cavalry, formerly of Baltimore, was killed in this charge.

The fight continued about Hanover for four hours, and resulted in dividing the enemy's force, and one portion is so isolated to-night that this division will have to be whipped before it can escape.

While there are a few traitors in Hanover, I am happy to say that a majority of the people—and particularly the ladies—are loyal. The ladies, while there was skirmishing in the streets, came out and attended the wounded.

We have captured one Lieutenant-Colonel, (PAYNE,) one Captain and 50 non-commissioned officers and privates. Our loss in prisoners is about the same.

Annexed is a list of killed and wounded, as furnished by Surgeon HENRY CHAPMAN:

The following letter was captured to-day, which indicates quite clearly that we are surrounded by spies even in the State of Pennsylvania:

CAMP NEAR HANOVER, June 30, 1863.

CAPTAIN: A citizen, direct from Littlestown, informs me, that Gen. KILPATRICK, with four regiments, of which the First Virginia, First Vermont and Fifth New-York are three, and six pieces of artillery, left that place this morning for Hanover. The road that I am in strikes the Littleton and Hanover road at McSherryville, two miles from Hanover.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
FITZ LEE,
Brigadier-General Commanding.

The above was written in pencil as I have written it, and as the regiments named belonged to Gen. K's division, it was quite apparent that the Citizen stated the truth. Gen. KILPATRICK is to-night having all the Copperheads arrested to prevent them from furnishing the enemy with further information.

A caisson, attached to PENNINGTON'S battery, exploded to-day, killing one man, wounding three others, and killing a horse.

OUR HARRISBURG CORRESPONDENCE.

The Affair at Carlisle—Exaggerated Reports Telegraphed—What it Amounted to, &c.

HARRISBURGH, Thursday, July 2, 1863.

It is not my intention to startle the public with the announcement that a terrible battle has been fought at Carlisle. Neither shall I venture the absurd assertion that the enemy was driven from Carlisle after having suffered a fearful loss in killed and wounded. It always adds a lively interest to the description of a fight to be able to state that either one side or the other drove the opposing force from their position and charged whole columns with a determination and gallantry never before seen. While justice should be given to valor, it should not be forgotten that most readers are supposed to possess a grain of common sense. It does not require five or six columns of a newspaper to convince thinking people that it is an utter impossibility for a mere handful of soldiers to overwhelm, rout and all but annihilate a good-sized portion of a veteran army. And yet that is the impression went to be conveyed in whole sheets of dispatches relative to the little skirmish that took place yesterday at Carlisle. I will leave out of question the "brilliant victory" at Oyster Point, where the Union forces were represented to have dashed forward with such impetuosity that the rebels run from them like sheep, when, if the truth were known, the case would be found to be quite different. The list of casualties—two slightly wounded—explains sufficiently the "fearful" nature of the conflict. If I am expected on all occasions to give our men credit for unprecedented heroism, regardless of the facts of the case, some one will be disappointed. It is not my purpose to bestow praise where it does not belong. To magnify a little skirmish or first fight into a gigantic engagement has become a penchant of many.

Now, the public are not too stupid to perceive that the rebels retired from the front of Harrisburgh, not on account of the advance of Gen. SMITH'S little command, but in consequence of operations by MEADE in their rear. If the rebels had not retreated our force would in all probability be within the fortifications across the river this very moment. Since the retrograde movement commenced, the rebels have not allowed themselves to be pushed in the least. Thus far the Union troops have acted wholly on the defensive. When the enemy leaves a certain place, our troops go up and occupy it. As yet there has not been a battle nor hardly a skirmish, for if the same thing should happen in the Army of the Potomac, correspondents would only paragraphically allude to it. Yesterday we had, as far as known, one man killed and sixteen wounded. The casualties were caused by shells fired by the rebels into the town. The names of the killed and wounded I telegraphed to the TIMES to-night.

THE SKIRMISH.

As soon as it was known by the authorities that the rebels had left our immediate front, scouts were dispatched to ascertain their whereabouts. It was soon discovered that they had gone in the direction of Carlisle, and preparations were at once made to follow them up. At 9 A. M. a squadron of cavalry started on the mission, and was followed in the afternoon by about three thousand infantry, with six pieces of artillery, under Gen. SMITH. At 6 P. M. our troops were in Carlisle, having walked a distance of eighteen miles. No opposition was made to their advance, neither were any rebels seen until the march was ended. At about 8 P. M. a column of 3,000 rebel cavalry wheeled into the rear of our lines, thus completely hemming Gen. SMITH in the town. They drew up in line of battle a short distance off, placed their guns in position and awaited orders. FITZHUGH LEE, who was in command, sent to Gen. SMITH, under a flag of truce, a demand for the surrender of the town. Gen. SMITH indignantly refused to comply, the result of which was the shelling of the place. The enemy had six 6-pounders, and opened with them all, firing at intervals for two hours. Our guns were fired in reply, and for a short time, as may be readily inferred, the citizens of that usually quiet place were frightened out of their natural wits. At 10 P. M., FITZHUGH LEE again sent a flag of truce to Gen. SMITH, and notified the latter that the women and children should have from then till 10 o'clock the next morning to vacate the town. At that time he should open again with his guns, and continue to shell until a compliance was made with his demands. The women and children, rather than undergo the shelling process, flocked from the town in large numbers. They were obliged to walk, as their horses had been stolen by the enemy. Most of them came in the direction of Harrisburgh, and during the night several arrived at the depot. But it seems the enemy did not fulfill his part of the programme. Shortly after daylight, he was seen moving off in the direction of Gettysburgh—returning on the same road that he came. Carlisle was not shelled at 10 A. M., and throughout the day everything has been quiet in that vicinity. It is said, however, that the rebels are still hovering around in adjoining districts, but they are probably nothing more than scouting parties. Before leaving, the enemy burned the barracks—also destroyed a railroad bridge and a long distance of track. The ties were piled in a heap and rail laid on top, and the whole mass was fired. The citizens were completely drained of provisions, having barely enough to furnish Gen. SMITH'S small command with a single meal.

An engine, with a single car attached, was run up to the burned bridge this afternoon. It returned this evening. At last accounts all was quiet at Carlisle.

RUMORS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Rumored Investment of Richmond by Gen. Dix.

PHILADELPHIA, Friday, July 3.

The Press, of this city, has the following:

BALTIMORE, Thursday, July 2.

Rumors from Fortress Monroe, by the Old Point boat, have given rise to the serious impression that Richmond has been closely invested by Gen. DIX, and is, probably, captured.

The Fort Lafayette Prisoners Removed to Fort Warren.

FORT HAMILTON, Friday, July 3.

The prisoners confined in Fort Lafayette were yesterday removed to Fort Warren.

Men are now at work on the fort mounting guns and strengthening the means of defence.

The British brig Napier, which arrived at this port yesterday from Arecesibo, P. R., is understood to be the vessel which has been flying the secession flag in several of the West India ports.

ARRIVAL OF THE MORNING STAR

A Rumor of the Capture of Port Hudson.

The Rebels in the Lafourche Country.

RECAPTURE OF BRASHEAR CITY

The Morning Star, Capt. A. D. PERKINS, left New-Orleans on the 27th June, at 8:10 A. M., and arrived at her wharf at 5 P. M. yesterday, making the run in 6 days and 9 hours. The Morning Star brings a full freight of sugar and cotton, $170,000 American Gold, and 230 passengers.

A rumor was current at New-Orleans on the morning of her departure, that Port Hudson had been taken by Gen. BANKS, but this was not confirmed by telegram at the Balize at a later period of the day.

For some days prior to the sailing of the Morning Star there had been rumors that Gen. MAGRUDER from Texas, was in the Attakapa country with a large force of cavalry, &c. By the arrival of the schooner Tip Top, from Boonsville, Texas, June 5, this would appear to be confirmed, as all the forces of Gen. [illegible]ately there, had been withdrawn by MAGRUDER. It is now fully confirmed by an arrival from Berwick Bay, which announces that the rebels took possession of Brashear City, with stores, subsistence and forts; made many prisoners, and captured a large number of contrabands. The cars which left the city on the 26th for Lafourche returned, so they must have also possession of the railroad, thus breaking the connection. The transport steamers St. Mary and the Crescent were at New Orleans by sea from Berwick's Bay to prevent capture. The U. S. sloop-of-war Portsmouth had also arrived from the Passes, her place being taken by five gunboats which arrived from Baton Rouge.

On the bar S. W. Pass passed schooner Henry Perkins, wished to be reported. On the 2d July, at 6:30 A. M., lat. 34° 49', long. 75° 25' W. exchanged signals with steamship Evening Star, bound South. Also on the 2d, off Hatteras, passed an American bark, bound South, showing blue and white signal, with B in centre. On 3d, off Barnegat, passed a schooner, bound South, showing a red signal, with letters W. R. B.

OUR PORT HUDSON CORRESPONDENCE.

HEADQUARTERS BEFORE PORT HUDSON,
Tuesday, June 23, 1863.

I herewith send you a list of nearly 900 of the heroic men who have volunteered to lead the "forlorn hope" in the grand forthcoming assault upon Port Hudson; the remainder I had not been able to obtain up to the moment of closing the mail, but will send you by the very first opportunity.

Matters continue here precisely what they were at the date of my last, (the 21st,) except that we are just two days stronger for and nearer to the grand consummation. There is something perfectly awful in the lull of the past two or three days; knowing, as we do, what work is to follow it. For the last few days—as if by mutual understanding—(although no agreement to that effect has passed)—our men have been seen near enough to the enemy's ramparts to actually converse—neither side firing a gun, but each busy in making preparations for the work of carnage. At one place our batteries and theirs confront each other so closely that, at a short distance from them, they actually look as if they could throw stones at each other. When artillery commences to play then it will be terrible beyond description.

Looking back to one or two of my sanguine letters, which have already come to roost, not to but out of Port Hudson, makes me timid of indulging in any more prophecies—for the present, at least. But if you in the North are entertaining any doubts of our success here, I can assure you that the real actors in the drama do not share your apprehensions.

Never were there any troops more healthy, confident and determined upon success; and this in spite of many impediments that, to other men, might appear formidable obstacles. I hope our success down here will be so sure and speedy as to waive all discussion upon such a subject; but if any disappointment should happen to us here, no amount of obloquy would be too much for those who could have committed the monstrous absurdity of sending nine months men upon so eventful a mission as this—a mission that, in my humble opinion, far transcends in value the possession of Richmond itself—I mean the capture of Port Hudson and the consequent possession of Vicksburgh and the whole Mississippi River. However, "enough for the day is the evil thereof."

This mail will take you Gen. BANKS' official report of the engagement of the 27th. I hope your Copperheads will read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest what is there said of the colored regiments. Whatever work your Northern revolutionists may hereafter carve out for loyal white men in defence of their own Northern homes, thank God, we are no longer in doubt now as to where armies are to come from to save us in the South, even if the "Peace party" had the power to clog the wheels of Government by impeding conscription. Let the authorities wield the power they hold—push on the organization of the colored regiments—and believe me we shall soon have an army of 250,000 of as good and dauntless soldiers as ever shouldered muskets in defence of a righteous cause.

We are all here in the flush of that excitement belonging to the consciousness of impending great events. At what hour the storm will break forth is not easy to know—for the Commanding General has the rare art of keeping his counsels very secret—but it may be at any moment. God grant that when it does come, it may be attended with the result I now have every reason to anticipate.

A SOLUTION OF
PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

No remedy has ever come before the public so wonderful in its curative powers, so astounding in its results, its genuineness as a Pure Solution, and its excellence as a Medicine, are attested by some of the most distinguished names known to science in America and Europe.

The amount of ability, zeal, and assiduity which has been devoted to the elucidation of its effects upon the Human System has not been exceeded in the instance of any other article in Materia Medica; and it is acknowledged to possess very great powers in the cure of many obstinate diseases, over which other remedies have little or no influence.

The unparalleled success in private practice and the indorsement of high medical authority enable us to recommend

as a specific cure for the following diseases: viz.: Scrofula, in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Bronchitis, Liver Complaints, Heart Diseases, Bilious Fevers, Fever and Ague, Nervous Affections, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Female Weaknesses, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, Syphilis, in all its various and afflicting stages, and the only remedy for the successful eradication of Mercurial Diseases, and, in fact, all those distressing and afflicting maladies which arise from an enfeebled, vitiated state of the blood, defective nutrition and impure atmosphere, &c.

That the public may be enlightened as to the nature and uses of Iodine, and be led to appreciate the benefit to be derived from this discovery, the outline of its history is herewith subjoined:

Iodine is an elementary body, discovered in the year 1812, by a soda manufacturer, at Paris. Some years after, its therapeutic (curative) powers were tried; these having been found valuable, it is now recognized as a standard remedy. It received its name from the Greek word which heads this advertisement.

Iodine exists in certain marine vegetables, particularly the fuci or common sea-weed, and in some fresh-water plants, among which are the water-cress, brooklime, and fine-leaved water hemlock. In the animal kingdom, in the sponge, oyster, various polypi, &c. It is also found in the mineral kingdom, in certain salt springs, in a rare Mexican mineral combined with silver, and in the zinc ores of Silesia.

Iodine was first discovered in the United States in the water of the Congress Spring, Saratoga, by Dr. Wm. Usher. It has also been detected in various other mineral springs in this country and in Europe. Of all substances, sea-weeds are procably the most rich in producing iodine, especially those growing in the deep sea, as the fucus Palmettus of Linnæus.

Iodine was first employed as a medicine in 1820, by Coindet, of Geneva, who obtained such striking results that its reputation soon spread, and it was employed in various diseases, and with the greatest advantage. Since that time it has been the subject of repeated experiments by savans all over the world, in the confident belief that, as a therapeutic agent, it concealed powers and properties more subtle and efficient than anything yet known in the catalogue of human benefits.

Nature seems to have made copious use of it herself as a physician, in preparing certain mineral springs, most esteemed for their wholesome properties; and it may safely be said that all the benefit derived from the drinking of the Congress and Saratoga waters in this country, the Salts of Piedmont, King's Well, at Bath, &c., is owing to the Iodine they contain.

This principle, which was unknown until 1812, we find now recorded as a standard remedy, with the testimony of eminent physicians in every part of the world.

Dr. Cogwell, of Edinburgh, remarks: "As Iodine acts as powerfully on the digestive tube, it should also affect the urinary organs, many of the members decidedly experienced the secondary effects. Moreover, since Iodine acts not only upon the surface of the intestines, but also on that of the parts which open into them, on the glands of the mouth and stomach, it should increase the salivary, gastric, pancreatic and biliary secretions. It must, therefore, modify in a high degree the processes of assimilation and nutrition if properly employed. Should we not expect the best effects from it in diseases of the viscera, depending upon weakness and congested state of these organs, in scrofula and similar affections?"

Dr. Alex. Manson, of Nottingham, England, in his interesting and highly instructive work on the effects of Iodine, uses this language: "It possesses powers in the cure of many obstinate diseases over which other remedies have little or no influence, very recommended, not from caprice or fondness of novelty, but because I have found the treatment by Iodine much more efficacious than any other method with which I am acquainted in the following diseases, viz.: Bronchochele, or Goitre, Paralysis, Chorea, or St. Vitus Dance, Scrofula, Scrofulous Ophthalmia, Deafness, Dysphagia, White Swellings, and Distortions of the Joints." I must say that I am not without hope that in Iodine we possess a remedy that bids fairer than any other to prevent the formation of tubercles, (in the lungs,) or to dissipate them in their incipient state."

It has been proved by Dr. Buchanan, of Glasgow, Cantu and others, that Iodine enters into a number of the secretions, and it has been detected in the urine, sweat
